

Order Quiz on Pension Issue In State Race

Board to Learn if Names of Pensioners are Misused

BOLENS CHARGE

All Information Will Be Forwarded to Washington

Milwaukee—(AP)—Chicago headquarters of the social security board's bureau of public assistance was under orders today to make an inquiry into reports that names of old age pensioners were being used for political purposes in Wisconsin.

The order was issued by Miss Jane Hoey, director of the bureau, at Washington.

"I asked the Chicago office to investigate the charges reported in some newspapers with a view of giving me the facts," Miss Hoey said. She added that she proposed to find out if there was such activity, by whom, and in whose behalf.

The charge originated with Harry W. Bolens, state senator who is the Democratic candidate for governor. Bolens has asserted that a letter was sent recently to many pensioners over the signature of Governor Philip LaFollette, announcing pension increases and claiming credit for them should go to the Progressive party.

Report to Washington
H. L. McCarthy, regional director of the board in Chicago, followed Miss Hoey's announcement with the statement he would report to Washington any information he could obtain about the charges. McCarthy said, however, that the report would not entail any inquiry or investigation.

Bolens charged that the Progressives obtained the list of pensioners' names from George Keith, state pension director, and that the list was denied him (Bolens) when Keith obtained a ruling from the attorney general that the lists were not public records.

Keith has denied that Progressives obtained the list from his files. He also denied that he had "run to the attorney general for an alibi" when approached by Bolens' representatives. The attorney general's advice was sought Oct. 11, two or three days before the Bolens visit, Keith declared.

Sees "Whitewash"
Harry R. McLogan of Milwaukee, chairman of the state pension department, today charged McCarthy's statement that the report he would make to Washington would not entail an investigation indicated a "whitewash."

He wired Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the federal social security board, demanding a "complete investigation."
"As chairman of the pension department, I urgently request you to have a thorough investigation made, at least to the extent of requiring every employee of the pension department to testify under oath as to any knowledge he or she may have relative to anyone securing the names of the pensioners," McLogan said. "Anything less will destroy the respect and confidence of pensioners and public alike, which some of us have spent years to create."

Bolens said he would insist upon a public hearing on the charges. "If any attempt is made to cover this up, I shall go directly to Washington and demand a public hearing," he said. "I am determined that no state employee or employee of the social security board shall be permitted to bury this thing."

Horicon Man Drowns When Craft Overturns

Horicon, Wis.—(AP)—Irvin Beifus, 40, drowned today when the launch in which he and three companions had started a hunting trip, tipped over in the Rock river. His companions pulled his body from the water within three minutes but were unable to revive him.

A Tisket, A Tasket

We've never been able to learn just what a tisket is—and a tasket's only reason for being seems to lie in the fact it rhymes with "basket." The song writers certainly have an easy time of it. If they can't find a word to rhyme, they simply take matters in their own hands and manufacture one.

ASKS FOR RULING

Washington—(AP)—Chairman Sheppard (D-Texas) asked the senate campaign expenditures committee today to decide whether recipients of federal old age pensions can contribute legally to senatorial campaigns.

Sheppard made an investigation had been made of a complaint that old age pensioners in California had given funds to candidates favoring increased pensions. The complaint, Sheppard said, named Sheridan Downey, Democratic senatorial nominee, as one of these candidates. Downey has advocated a "30-every-Thursday" state pension system.

Rumrich Says He Tried to Obtain Passport Blanks

Unperturbed Over Up-roar in Wake of Robinson-Ruben Affair

New York—(AP)—In spite of the uproar over the Robinson-Ruben passport affair, Guenther Gustav Rumrich, German secret agent, was confident he could procure passport blanks for Nazi spies, he testified today in federal court.

Rumrich made the statement under cross-examination by Benjamin Matthews, counsel for Erich Glaser, one of the three defendants on trial before Judge John C. Knox and a jury on espionage charges.

An attempt last February to get the passport blanks by telephoning the state department office here, requesting they be sent to a hotel, led to Rumrich's arrest and the seizure later of Glaser, Johanna Hoffmann and Otto Herman Voss, co-defendants in the trial.

The Robinson-Ruben passport matter involved two Americans traveling in Russia on passports containing false information.

"Had you read the newspapers on the Robinson-Ruben passport story?" demanded Matthews.

Rumrich said he had.

"You know then that there was nothing more dangerous than trying to get passport blanks?"

Assistant United States Attorney Lester C. Dunigan objected to the "apparent attempt to connect this case with that one."

"I have no intention of doing so," Matthews retorted.

Judge Knox intervened to ask: "Why did you go ahead in the face of all that publicity and try to get the passport blanks?"

Rumrich replied he thought he could carry out the plan.

Declares Banking System in U. S. Is In Good Condition

Bloomington, Ind.—(AP)—Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, reported to Indiana bankers taking a short course at Indiana university today that the banking system as a whole is in excellent condition.

The banks are sound and they deserve the confidence of their depositors," Crowley said. "We have stressed in previous addresses, however, that depositors' confidence will be enjoyed only so long as depositors can be certain that their banks are capable and safely managed as well as properly supervised."

He said the main problem of banks today is that of a decline in income rather than that of risky assets.

Horlick Takes Stand in Fight To Shelve Will

Says Mrs. Sidley Met Toronto Attorney Through Him

CASE UP NOV. 28

Sidley Says Mother 'Could be Led Like A Child'

Racine—(AP)—William Horlick, Jr., son of the founder of the Horlick Malted Milk company, testified today at a hearing in connection with the will of his sister, the late Mrs. Maybelle Horlick Sidley, that he last visited his brother Alexander "about six or eight years ago, when he was ill."

Horlick, questioned adversely as one of four executors who seek to have the will probated, said he and Alexander had had serious differences over family affairs and different opinions on business matters but were "friendly."

Horlick also testified that through him, his sister met W. Perkins Hall, Toronto attorney, at whose home she died.

William Horlick Sidley, her son and also an executor, has objected to probating the will on the grounds that his mother was incompetent and under undue influence and that fraud and duress were used. Under the will he and Bull were bequeathed equal amounts. Sidley has the support of his uncle Alexander.

Today's hearing was a preliminary to a court fight scheduled for Nov. 28 over Sidley's contest of the will, which disposes of an estimated $220,000 estate.

Sidley, 26, questioned at another hearing yesterday by counsel for the other executors, declared his mother was unduly influenced by Bull when she signed her will last April.

In his testimony Sidley said his uncle, Horlick, met Bull in June of 1927, aboard a steamer from Europe, and that Horlick invited Bull to Racine for a weekend. The weekend stretched to four months, Sidley asserted.

The result, Sidley said, was that Bull caused the estrangement of his parents which led to their divorce in 1931. (His father was the late Dr. John Streeter Sidley.)

Describing a visit to Toronto in April, 1937, Sidley said his mother "could be led around like a child. Once meticulous in dress, she was careless now. . . . Most of the time she didn't remember her home or her mother, and every one she saw she imagined to be me."

Wanted to Return
Sidley said his mother wished to return to Racine in 1937, but that Bull's chauffeurs were instructed to pay no attention to her. Door handles were removed from the inside of the car to prevent her from getting out when she was taken on rides, he asserted. Once, he charged, his mother was brought back "physically" when she "escaped" from a beauty parlor in Toronto, intent on returning to Racine.

Concerning his charge of influence, Sidley testified he had to influence her to sign anything. And Bull was the one who suggested everything.

Favor Check on Foreign Industry

French Conservative Deputies Want Strong Restrictions

Paris—(AP)—Conservative elements of the chamber of deputies today urged stringent restrictions upon foreign industry in France. This was the latest indication of an increasing nationalist feeling exhibited in Sunday's senatorial election.

The rightist deputies drafted a bill which would apply strict control to foreign business in each section of France and would, in effect, place these establishments under the supervision of their French competitors.

Political sources predicted, meanwhile, that Premier Edouard Daladier would abandon his people's front support to form a rightist majority bloc which would give his government more dictatorial power than ever before extended to a French cabinet.

A rightist swing in the Sunday elections and socialist and communist resentment at the Munich agreement to dismember Czechoslovakia were factors.

The communists and socialists with Daladier's radical socialist camp criticized the parliamentary strength of the people's front Socialist Leon Blum on June 4, 1936 became its first premier and the coalition has held power since.

Should the rightist parties refuse to join Daladier in a new government, political sources predicted he would dissolve the chamber and seek support through a national election.

Grady Being Treated At Madison Hospital

Madison—(AP)—Attorney Daniel W. Grady, of Portage, former University of Wisconsin regent and state Democratic leader, was receiving treatment today at Wisconsin General hospital for an unannounced illness. He has been ailing for several weeks.

BOY RETURNED

Police at Floral Park, N. Y., returned Dean Tripp (above), 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur D. Tripp, to his home after he had been missing for two days. George O'Connell, houseman for the Tripps, and the boy had left home ostensibly for a shopping trip to New York.

One Brother Is Slain, Another Critically Shot

Sauk County Officials Think Two Were Fired Upon From Ambush

Reedsburg, Wis.—(AP)—Sauk county authorities, with the aid of bloodhounds, searched the woods in the town of Winfield today for some clue to the slaying of Patrick Healy, 55, and the wounding of his brother, Maurice, 57.

The bachelor brothers were shot late last night as they trained "cut dogs in the woods near their farm home. Law enforcement officers said they were without clues to the men's assailant and declined to discuss what progress they had made in their investigation.

The Healy's apparently were shot from ambush. This led to unfounded reports of a neighborhood feud. District Attorney John H. Rouse said, however, that he knew of no enemies the brothers might have had. Another report, also unconfirmed, was that they might have been fired upon by moonshiners.

Patrick died almost instantly. One bullet struck him in the abdomen. Another entered his shoulder and coursed downward into his body.

Maurice, wounded in the abdomen, hand and leg by a shotgun charge was in such condition that he could give no account of what had taken place. Attending surgeons said the slugs had pierced the intestines in several places and expressed fear peritonitis would develop.

Maurice walked 80 rods to the home of neighbors after the shooting and then was brought to a hospital here.

Movie Actor, Friend Are Burned Seriously

Beverly Hills, Calif.—(AP)—Trapped by a fire on the second floor of his pretentious home here, Lyric Talbot, handsome leading man of the films, and his house guest, Franklin B. Parker, also an actor, leaped to safety early today.

They were taken to a hospital suffering burns described by attendants as serious.

Talbot's hair was burned from his scalp and Parker's back was severely burned. The house was nearly destroyed after the pair made their 29-foot leap. Cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

Modern Educational System Fails to Develop Freedom of Thought, Hutchins Declares

New York—(AP)—Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, today criticized the modern educational system as "a large-scale housing venture" which fails to develop freedom of thought.

To this lack of freedom he ascribed the major ills of the modern world.

Dr. Hutchins' address, "The Free Mind," was delivered to the first session of the New York Herald Tribune 1938 Forum on Current Problems.

Pay-Hour Body May Ask for Added Powers

Would Extend Authority In Applying Act to Industries

NUMEROUS APPEALS

Opinions Only Advisory Pending Court Decisions

Washington—(AP)—The wage-hour administration may ask congress for broader authority in applying the new labor standards law to specific industries.

This prediction came today from high ranking officials, who were swamped with inquiries from employers as to whether the statute regulates minimum wages and maximum hours for their particular business.

Now that the wage-hour program actually has gone into effect, Administrator Elmer F. Andrews and his staff are giving most of their attention to these appeals for assistance.

Their opinions will be only advisory, however, for the courts must determine finally whether an individual industry is in interstate commerce and therefore subject to the federal law.

May Ask Amendments
There is also the possibility that business men will request clarifying amendments to the act and possible extension of the classes of exempted workers. Some employers, on the other hand, argue that the courts should pass on the law as it now stands before making any changes in its provisions.

After the first day of the act's operation, Andrews reported last night that most branches of industry were complying fully with the new standards, even though many companies were not certain whether it applied to all their employees.

Unofficial estimates indicated that more than 80,000 persons were thrown out of work by shutdowns of scattered plants. Most of the layoffs occurred in the south, particularly in pecan-shelling plants, lumber mills, and tobacco stemming factories.

Double Reports
In New York, the Postal Telegraph company announced it was stating to lay off 1,000 messengers who receive less than the 25-cent an hour minimum.

At a press conference today Andrews said the reports that 50,000 pecan shellers were without jobs were "quite a little exaggerated."

He also said he questioned the accuracy of unofficial estimates that a total of 80,000 persons had become jobless.

Whatever the number, Andrews said he believed that what he called "decent" employers who pay at least the 25-cent minimum would absorb those let out.

73 Arraigned in WPA Fraud Case

Four Plead Innocent; Rest Given Time to Object to Indictments

Albuquerque, N. M.—(AP)—Before a packed courtroom, a mass arraignment was held today for 73 persons charged with fraud and political conspiracy through manipulation and organization of the New Mexico WPA.

Only four pleas were received, all of them pleas of innocent.

In virtually all other cases, the defendants were given until Nov. 3 to file objections to the validity of the indictments handed down Thursday by the federal grand jury. Many of the defendants, not represented by counsel, were ordered to return later on call of the court.

Judge Colin Nebbett directed that no further pleas be received by the court until the validity of the indictments, prepared with the assistance of the department of justice, was established definitely.

United States Attorney Everett Grantham expressed belief this would delay trials until mid-November, and possibly later.

Pleas of innocent were entered by Salomon Chavez, cousin of United States Senator Dennis Chavez; Vernon Baker and Max Robertson, WPA women from Espanola and Arthur J. Daniel of Albuquerque.

Japanese Arrive In Hankow After Chinese Retreat

Dodd Blames Democracies of World for Permitting Nazis To Get Control of Germany

Placing most of the blame for Hitler on the democracies of the world which did nothing to save their fellow German democracy, Dr. William E. Dodd, former United States ambassador to Germany, said Monday night in a lecture at Lawrence Memorial chapel that modern civilization was in great danger.

He quoted Goering, German Nazi leader, as saying, "If we start another World War, all of Europe will be so frightened that it will surrender in 36 hours."

He was probably right, Dr. Dodd said, for 50,000 bombing planes flying over Europe would give the world within a week the saddest picture it has ever seen.

What can the democracies do about it?

Dr. Dodd's answer is, "Apply the principles we said we were fighting for in the World war—cooperation amongst the democracies similar to the cooperation between the 13 colonies after the Revolutionary war and recognition of the principles of Christianity."

Boycott Is Weapon
The democracies would then be so strong, he declared, that they could stop any dictator without war. He mentioned in particular the effectiveness of the real boycott as a means of stopping the lawless nations.

No colorful orator, Dr. Dodd spoke quietly and thoughtfully, as a scholar. He was for over 25 years a member of the history department of the University of Chicago, is now professor emeritus of American history at that institution and the author of a number of historical volumes.

Drawing from history for his examples, Dr. Dodd compared Woodrow Wilson's post-war policies to those of two earlier American presidents, Washington and Lincoln.

He pointed out that Washington had urged the payment of all debts, fostered trade between the states and turned to page 17 col. 1

Say California Farm Industry Is Menaced by Reds

Legionnaires' Spokesmen See Plot to Overthrow Government

Washington—(AP)—House investigators of un-American activities heard testimony today that California's agricultural industry had been a "major focal point" for Communist party attack for the last five years.

Harper Knowles of Oakland and Ray Nimmo of Los Angeles, representing the radical research committee of the California American Legion, told the Dies committee that this branch of Communism's activity was "a forerunner of their intention to overthrow the government of the United States."

One of the significant features, Knowles said, had been "the great assistance given to the agitators in the agricultural field by the International Longshoremen's association of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific."

Tried to Halt Foodstuffs
"We charge," he said, "that it has been done with the deliberate attempt and purpose of tying up the movement of foodstuffs from rural to urban communities" when the time came for a general strike "or other types of insurrection."

Knowles and Nimmo presented evidence yesterday to show that the maritime organizations were Communist-controlled and led by Harry Bridges, whom they labeled an alien Communist. Bridges is a west coast leader of the CIO.

Knowles ascribed this remark to Caroline Decker, whom he identified as secretary of the Cannery and Agricultural Workers Industrial union.

"If in the process of getting better living and working conditions, it is necessary for the working class to overthrow the government, then that means overthrow of the government."

Germany Seeking Trade Agreement

Wants Triangular Plan Permitting Use of 'Blocked Marks'

Washington—(AP)—Government officials, studying reports that Germany wants a triangular trade arrangement with Great Britain and the United States on the basis of barter and "blocked marks," have found that a large share of German-American commerce already is conducted on such a system.

Although Secretary Hull has declared Germany's method of trade was opposed diametrically to that of the United States, some officials believe a majority of the trade between the two countries may be along Germany's lines. They said the exact percentage was not known here.

In 1937 Germany bought $124,166,000 worth of merchandise from the United States and sold it $92,644,000 worth—a total trade of more than $200,000,000.

One official estimated that nearly all the American cotton sold to Germany—655,894 bales in the year ending last July—has been sold either on a barter or "blocked mark" arrangement.

(Blocked marks are German funds owned by Americans and other foreigners in bank deposits in Germany. They can be used only for certain limited purposes permitted by the government and cannot be removed from the country.)

The treasury, by order of Dec. 23, 1936, permitted trade with Germany in four artificial categories. One of them involves barter—the exchange of merchandise between German and American parties without any monetary transaction taking place.

Indiana Woman Is Killed by Gun in Hands of Husband

Thornton, Ind.—(AP)—Miss Beyrl Stembel, 32, was killed at her home south of here late yesterday as she was struck in the heart by a bullet fired from a gun held by her husband, Howard Stembel.

Dr. Everett A. Rainey, Boone county coroner, said Stembel told him the shot was fired accidentally as he was cleaning a rifle preparatory to shooting a hawk.

Dr. Rainey said he would return a verdict of accidental death.

Stembel said he had fired previously at the hawk and missed. His wife suggested the gun needed cleaning and went after it. As she returned, Stembel told her coroner, a shell he was trying to extract exploded and the bullet struck her.

Stevens Point Chief Quits to Be Fireman

Stevens Point—(AP)—Roman Kubick was Stevens Point's fire chief today because Carl Kitowski, who held the job for a year, preferred to be an ordinary fireman.

Kitowski, who succeeded Frank F. Kirsling when the latter was promoted and left the department, yesterday was granted permission to return to duty as a regular fireman.

He told the police and fire commission he had tried to make himself like the position of chief, but couldn't in spite of the larger salary.

Prisoner Gets Added Sentence for Burglary

Waukesha—(AP)—Jevons Zalsky, Des Moines, serving a five to six year term in state prison on a manslaughter charge, today was under an additional sentence.

After Zalsky admitted doing $400 damage in breaking into the vault at Waukesha High school and taking $300 last May, Judge Austin Baird sentenced him to three years in state prison, to be served concurrently with the previous sentence.

Army and Navy Join In Taking Provisional Capital

CHIANG LEAVES

Retreating Chinese Demolish Several Buildings in City

Shanghai—(AP)—The Japanese army and navy commands tonight announced that their forces had entered Hankow, China's provisional capital, abandoned by its defenders.

Japanese officers said units of both services had participated in the capture of the great city on the middle Yangtze river, major goal of the Japanese conquest since Nanking fell nearly 11 months ago.

Neutral advisers reaching Shanghai said retreating Chinese troops demolished several buildings. Large fires were reported in Hankow and adjoining cities of Wuchang and Hanyang. The city was without water, but a foreign-owned power company which was permitted to take over the waterworks was attempting to resume service.

Patrols of British bluejackets cooperated with Chinese police in keeping order before entry of the Japanese.

The first detachment to enter apparently was an infantry column which previously had captured Hwangpai, 20 miles to the north, and then driven rapidly down the Peiping-Hankow railway.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, military and civil leader of the Chinese nation, was reported to have left Hankow by plane during the night, accompanied by his foremost aide, his American-educated wife.

Naval officers said they believed Japanese warships had reached the great inland port, 585 miles up the Yangtze, although exact positions of the vessels was not disclosed. Since Nanking's fall the navy has cooperated with the army in blasting a pathway up the river.

The last stages of the Japanese advance were made with such rapidity—overland from the northeast, along both banks of the Yangtze and up the river itself—that large units of Chinese were cut off.

The rapidly-driving Japanese columns were said to have left several divisions in pockets to be cleaned up later, as motorized vanguards with tanks sped toward the doomed Chinese capital.

Hankow (which with its sister Wuhan cities of Wuchang and Hanyang, had a pre-war population of about 1,700,000) was the sixth great Chinese city to fall to the invaders.

Peiping and Tientsin were taken in the first weeks of the war that began July 7, 1937; Shanghai fell Nov. 9 and Nanking—Hankow's predecessor as Chinese capital—Dec. 13. Canton, metropolis of the south, fell Friday.

Only lesser cities, mostly far in the interior, remain in Chinese hands.

Whether Japan would be content to rest on her present conquests, thus opening a period of undeclared peace, remained a subject for conjecture tonight.

Withdrawal of the Chinese defenders "for strategic reasons" apparently spared Hankow the bloodshed which marked the capture of Nanking. There was no need for a final grand assault such as that by which the mikado's armies blasted their way into the walls of Nanking.

The greater part of the Chinese armies managed to retreat to the westward, their commanders explaining this was in accordance with a decision to prolong resistance and not risk annihilation of their best units in defense of the Wuhan area.

According to the latest estimates approximately 1,000,000 persons, including some 1,000 foreigners, remained in the three Wuhan cities when the Japanese arrived, less

France to Resume Shipping Convicts To Guiana Islands

Paris—(AP)—The newspaper Paris Midi said today Premier Edouard Daladier's government had decided to revive the practice of shipping French convicts to the dreaded French Guiana islands.

It reported the practice, banned by Leon Blum when he became premier in June, 1936, would be resumed Nov. 20, when the prison ship La Martinique will transport prisoners from St. Lazare in its iron cages to the three notorious islands, including Devil's Island, off South America.

Blum, whose socialist party led a long fight against the colony, pointed to world condemnation when he took office as supporting his decision to stop it. He ordered shipments of prisoners to cease and that convicts be sent instead to modern prisons in France.

Chapple Asks for Special Counsel To Probe Charges

Makes Formal Application at Office of Attorney General

Madison—John B. Chapple, Ashland, formally asked the attorney general's office today for appointment of special counsel to investigate his charges that Milwaukee Republican leaders tried to force him to withdraw as an independent "Townsend Republican" candidate for the United States senate.

Chapple filed a petition with Assistant Attorney General Newell S. Boardman for special proceedings under the corrupt practices act, asserting that Julius P. Heil, Milwaukee, Republican nominee for governor and Heil's campaign manager, Walter Wilde, of Milwaukee, offered him $2,600 to get out of the race.

Whether the attorney general's office will press action upon the complaint may depend upon the decision of Boardman, who had previously advised Chapple to retain private counsel, Chapple was in conference with Boardman today.

The assistant attorney general later said he would act on the complaint "very promptly," indicating he would make known his conclusions within a few days, but he refused to state whether a special prosecution would be ordered.

Chapple's Petition

The petition of the Townsend aspirant said in part:

"It appears plain to me from reading the statutes that my full duty under the circumstances requires that I file a petition asking for special proceedings.

"I have already reported to you information concerning Mr. Julius P. Heil and Mr. Walter Wilde involving what appears to be a violation of the corrupt practices act.

"Mr. Heil and Mr. Wilde personally came to my room at the Juneau hotel (in Milwaukee) Tuesday Oct. 11 without my invitation, and of their own volition made an effort to force me to withdraw from the race for the United States senate.

"With words of profanity I was ordered to get out of the senate race and I then was offered $2,600 to withdraw.

Told To Give Talks

"I have in my possession (later turned over to the attorney general's office) a printed authorization entitled 'Heil for Governor Club,' made out to John B. Chapple, Ashland, Order No. 357, dated Milwaukee, Oct. 11, 1938, and signed by August Frey, secretary and treasurer, with the following notation: 'Mr. John B. Chapple, you are required to give 26 talks at $100 each, your schedule to be furnished from time to time.'

Chapple's request is the second brought before the attorney general for prosecution of Heil under the corrupt practices act. Before the primary election Edward G. Ihlenfeldt, subsequently defeated for the Democratic nomination of governor, filed a petition charging that campaign expenditures on behalf of Heil exceeded the amount allowed by law.

Ihlenfeldt was called to the attorney general's office yesterday and Boardman held a conference with Boardman. He left, stating he had been asked for further information which he was not prepared to supply. Ihlenfeldt said he would return to Madison in a few days.

Snite Bound for Florida as He Continues Travels in Iron Lung

Chicago—The "Boiler kid" was off again today on his travels in an iron lung.

Frederick B. Snite, Jr., the 28-year old infantile paralysis victim, was scheduled to leave at 2:15 p. m. (C.S.T.) on a special section of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad's Dixie limited bound for a winter in Miami, Fla.

It's approximately 24 years now that Snite has been living in what he calls his "boiler." He was stricken in March, 1916, in China while on a world tour with his father, a Chicago financier, and other members of the family.

In June, 1937, he came back from China aboard ship in the 900-pound iron lung, traveled in it to Chicago, and "saw" Chicago on a specially-prepared truck, later succeeded by a specially-built trailer. A year ago he went to Florida, returning this spring.

New Device

In Florida, Fred will be taken out of the heavy iron lung and will use a new 94 pound device fashioned of aluminum and special rubber.

The new, light respirator enables Fred to recline or sit up, feed himself, hold books to read, sit simply, strapped around his body.

Traveling with Fred today will be his parents, Dr. John J. Fahey, two orderlies, two electricians, and six nurses including Miss Marguerite Diao, physiotherapist who came from China with him last year.

Wisconsin Leads in Industrial Harmony, Governor Declares

Oshkosh—Governor Philip F. LaFollette, campaigning for reelection, said last night that Wisconsin has given the finest performance in the nation in the field of labor and industrial relations.

LaFollette ended the situation to "intelligent leadership in labor and industry" and the "careful guidance of the state government."

"Violence, bloodshed and martial law," LaFollette said, "have occurred in every state around Wisconsin. Here, labor and industry have lived in comparative peace in the last four years. Industrial peace unparalleled in any other industrial state doesn't just happen by itself.

"We have been blessed with far-sighted and intelligent leadership in both labor and industry. In addition we have enacted labor-industry legislation regarded everywhere as the most sound and progressive in the nation."

Couple to Face Murder Charge

Prosecutor Won't Seek Sanity Tests in Witchcraft Slaying

Houghton, Mich.—The Dollaray witchcraft slaying of 20-year old Marion Doyle, Prosecutor Frank C. Condon said today, is a case for criminal court rather than the psychiatric clinic.

The prosecutor said he intended to proceed against Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Pichette on charges of murder and would present a new theory of the killing.

Justice John McCarthy issued murder warrants against the couple yesterday.

The prosecutor said he had no present intention of seeking sanity tests for the Pichettes, accused of beating their young housekeeper to death with a flatiron and a stove poker.

Pichette was held in a padded cell at the Houghton county jail. His wife was in one of the regular cells. Jail attendants said the husband appeared incoherent and spent much of his time mumbling to himself.

Prosecutor Condon declined to elaborate on his new theory as to the motive behind the slaying but said the self-styled "Son of Jehovah" was "more sane than he pretends to be."

Diphtheria Inoculation Drive to Enter 2nd Round Next Monday

Waupaca—The first part of the "roundup" for diphtheria inoculation is being completed and Oct. 31 will mark the beginning of the second round.

"Diphtheria will strike down children in many communities and families which have not provided the one lasting defense against it, inoculation with toxoid. Diphtheria is almost entirely preventable. Miss Estelle Jung, county nurse, declared. When a child is nine months old he should be given this protection, as children between one and five years of age are especially susceptible. Mothers must not make the mistake of thinking that because the death rate of diphtheria has been reduced their babies are protected without inoculation.

"The danger of your child contracting smallpox and perhaps being marked for life is just as great or greater than is that of his contracting diphtheria. Smallpox cases were found throughout neighboring communities in the spring of 1938, noon.

as were also cases of diphtheria," Miss Jung asserted.

To date, 2,000 children, most of whom have had no previous protection against either smallpox or diphtheria, have been immunized. Most of these children who had some measure of protection from diphtheria administered six years ago, will come in under the second round of the program. They will need only one injection of toxoid, and vaccination of no successful smallpox vaccination has been given in this area in the last six years.

The schedule for the first of the second and last round of smallpox and diphtheria inoculation follows: Monday, Oct. 31, 9 o'clock a. m., Clintonville Lutheran school will be host to Sandy Hollow and Pleasant Hill Schools of Larrabee township at 10:30. St. Rose Catholic school will be host to Fairview, Melba Valley and Morning Star of Larrabee township. The Clintonville Public school will be host to Roosevelt, Pison River and Excelsior schools at 7 o'clock in the afternoon.

Discover Young Love Is Not to be Denied

Kansas City, Kas.—17-Year-old junior summoned police and exhibited this threatening note: "If you don't treat your son better, he'll go away and be returned to you in a basket."

Investigation disclosed junior had a "girl," blonde, blue-eyed and 11. Mother recalled the little lady showed acute disappointment when junior was not allowed to go roller-skating with her.

Detective Edward Hayes solved the mystery with a sample of the little blonde's handwriting.

Plans Completed For Fall Festival

Annual Event to be Held Three Evenings at Kimberly

Kimberly—The annual fall frolic festival sponsored by the Athletic association will be held at the clubhouse Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. Arranging of the stands and counters are now being completed in the club gym, which will be gaily decorated for the occasion.

During the three evenings dancing will be furnished as well as side shows in which C. Jurgenson will perform magic acts and Robert M. Connelly and Dickie Mauthe will present a Charley McCarthy act in addition to several tap numbers by Dickie Mauthe.

Booths, concession stands and lunch counters and a variety of games will be included in the midway. Dud Courchane, George McElroy and John Whitney are the general chairmen in charge.

The funds derived from the frolic will be used in sponsoring sports in the village. The association sponsors the Kimberly Athletic association basketball team, which last spring won the state amateur championship at Hartford. This fall the team will meet some of the state's best playing units and in addition the champions will play traveling teams.

John Foxx, Miss Esther Foxx, Lyle Hansen and Miss Marion Worgen of Oshkosh visited at the home of Otto Mauthe Sunday.

Felix Nuclemans was awarded first prize in schafkop at the card party sponsored by the women of the Holy Name parish at the clubhouse Sunday evening. Mrs. John Van Zummeren was awarded second.

Other prize winners were: Mrs. William Anderson, first, at bridge; Martha Vander Velden, first, and Fabian Hietpas, second, at rummy; Fred Olson, first, and Norbert Van den Heuvel, second, at dice. Mrs. Joseph Heuring was awarded a special prize.

Bolens Says Reds Hail Phil at Next Governor

Racine—Harry W. Bolens, Democratic candidate for governor, declared here yesterday that the Communist party had issued a manifesto "sublimely heralding" Philip F. LaFollette as their next governor.

"The resolution of sympathy prepared by Senator Robert M. LaFollette, to the Spanish murderers is receiving its reward," Bolens said. "This group, responsible for destruction of some 20,000 churches and chapels and the murder of more than 6,000 priests, is the subject of deep sympathy by Senator LaFollette."

The correspondent of the Catholic Herald-Citizen who interviewed Senator LaFollette and Representative Amlic, Boleau, Gehrmann and Withrow (of Wisconsin), states that they intended to express sympathy with the "Reds." This is in sympathy with the teachings and records of the LaFollettes.

Children to Take Part in Program On Armistice Day

Little Chute—Between 1,000 and 1,200 school children will gather at the Main street boulevard at 11 o'clock Friday morning, Nov. 11, and face east while a prayer is said in observance of Armistice day.

The prayer will be led by one of the priests of St. John's church and will be followed by an American Legion bugler. Townspeople have been invited to take part in the program being arranged by the Legion post with Malt Reyncheau and Frank Hermen in charge.

A party for members of the post and auxiliary will be held in the evening at the Legion hall.

WPA Director Says Politics Barred

Hopkins Defends New Deal Spending Program in Speech

Chicago—WPA Director Harry L. Hopkins told a Chicago audience last night "we don't tolerate petty politics on WPA projects."

"Not because of a political party but because of the injury it would do the people to have politics mixed with relief," he added.

Hopkins, who spoke at a Sinai temple forum, alluded to contentions that persons on relief had been asked to vote for particular candidates.

"Without discussing the merits of political machines," he said, "I can't stop persons who are not under my control from asking people to vote for their candidates."

Defending the New Deal spending program, Hopkins said:

"After seeing in those terrible years of 1931 and 1932 people seeking jobs, losing their savings, being dispossessed, I believe the government had a responsibility to see that they got jobs and food.

"We've made mistakes. My mistake has been not in doing too much, but too little. I don't like what happened in Europe two weeks ago. It bothers me. I don't want to see forces rise up in this democracy because the people haven't eaten."

Points to Federal Expenditures for Wisconsin Relief

Madison—The federal government has spent approximately $510,000,000 on relief in Wisconsin. Senator F. Ryan Duffy said in a campaign speech here last night.

Duffy, seeking reelection on the Democratic ticket, declared this amount did not include $63,000,000 of federal grants under the PWA to various governmental units in the state.

These sums are also in addition to $155,000,000 loaned to home owners in cities and villages. It is in addition to $53,000,000 loaned to 117,000 Wisconsin farmers; and it is in addition to $110,000,000 loaned to Wisconsin business concerns by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

"It takes no vivid imagination to picture the dire distress and suffering which Wisconsin citizens would have endured had it not been for the generous help of the administration with a heart which came into existence with President Roosevelt on March 4, 1933."

Wiley in Sharp Attack On Opponent's Tactics

Grantsburg, Wis.—A label of "political contortions" was placed upon Progressives and Democrats here last night by Alexander Wiley, Republican nominee for the United States senate.

"The Progressives, ardent worshippers at the New Deal shrine, have had to admit the Roosevelt doctrine of planned scarcity is fallacious," Wiley said, "and they now are arguing loudly against it. Planned scarcity . . . was nurtured by the progressives until they found it would cost them votes this year."

"The New Deal Democrats, demanding at their state convention that every candidate on their ticket take a solemn pledge to support the Roosevelt administration, have suddenly come to the conclusion that such action might cost them votes this year."

"As a result, Mr. Farley has given his blessing to the entire state ticket, which is 60 per cent anti-New Deal."

Decision Delayed On Doctor's Petition

Stevens Point—A decision is expected within 10 days in the case of Dr. R. J. Henderson, Tomahawk, whose petition for restoration of his license here yesterday was argued by Bryan B. Park for consideration.

Henderson's attorneys and L. F. Schmidt, former Lincoln county district attorney, discussed the case with Judge Park in the attorneys' room at the courthouse Monday and at the close of the hearing it was indicated a decision may be made within a week or ten days.

Dr. Henderson's license was revoked by the state board of medical examiners following his conviction in October, 1936, on a charge of performing an illegal operation.

Schuschnigg's Father Is Buried in Vienna

Vienna—Former General Arthur Schuschnigg, the father of former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, was buried today without incident in suburban Hietzing.

The last chancellor of independent Austria was not permitted to leave the Hotel Metropole, where German police held him in custody.

$20,000 FIRE DAMAGE

Madison—A barn, feed and milking machine valued at $20,000 were destroyed by fire today on Charming farm, owned by the Hancock dairy company. Several head of cattle were injured. Firemen said the blaze was caused by spontaneous combustion.

Wage, Hour Law to Help Workers as Dollar Declines

Hardships of Next Five Years Will be Easier to Meet

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Some day the workers of America will be very glad that, in the year 1938, a federal minimum wage and hour law was put into effect. They will be glad because, in the absence of such a law, they would find the hardships of the next five years much more difficult to face, especially as the purchasing power of the dollar is gradually forced down.

Today, it is numerically not a relatively serious matter for about 1,500,000 employees out of some 45,000,000 to become adjusted to the new law, especially as the act is to be ushered in gradually in the next few years so that ultimately the wage minimum is 40 cents and the hour maximum is 40.

Nowhere in the law is there any provision for 40 cents three or four years from now must purchase what 40 cents buys today. The rise of the government debt, the unprecedented series of unbalanced budgets, will be paid for in due time by the workingman. The dollar's gold content was devalued to 50 cents, but, so long as the purchasing power stayed normal, the worker never felt it.

Back in January, 1934, when the devaluation occurred, the worker's dollar bought $1.287 worth of goods, as compared with 1923 prices as normal of rather 100 cents. Today, the purchasing power of the dollar is already down to $1.164, and, if prices rise, a seems certain in view of the coming business activity and armament program, the dollar will buy less and less.

Prices Will Rise

How far down will the purchasing power of the dollar go? Maybe it will go all the way down to 59 cents and maybe it will rest at about 80 cents. Efficiency in industry will tend to keep some prices low, but the general average will doubtless be upward.

Business and industry are loath to accept any readjustments forced by government without regard to economic consequences, but it must be noted that, of all the changes of this drastic character brought by the New Deal, the federal wage and hour law comes with the least disturbance because of the gradual nature of the application of the statute.

Many businesses have been operating above the minimum wage, but they have not paid time and a half for overtime. All sorts of changes will have to be made on this account, but, when the readjusting is done and the cost of living rises, the workers will still find themselves out of luck.

The labor unions have hitherto used the cost of living argument as their principal plea when asking for wage adjustments, but when the federal government sets the minimum of wages and the maximum on hours, the workers' unions will have in the future less and less leverage. Public opinion will hardly support strikers who want more than the law prescribes.

Opposed by A. F. of L.

Here is where unionism loses its strongest contention. In fact, this was foreseen by the A. F. of L., which organization fought the bill and came into line only because the administration succeeded in playing the CIO against the A. F. of L. and compelling support in that manner in congress.

The unions still have an orbit in which they can operate, as, for instance, in getting better wages in skilled crafts above the minimum and making special agreements with employers, but the establishment of a general wage and hour standard will be difficult to combat. So far as constitutionality is concerned, there is grave doubt. Before the New Deal started its campaign against the supreme court, it would have been assumed that the federal statute would be held invalid as an invasion of states' rights. Today it will doubtless be ruled constitutional. There are certain advantages in this from a practical standpoint. Employers can no longer move from one section or region to another to obtain cheaper labor. Also, regions which have natural advantages for certain industries will no longer fear cheaper competition from the south, where most of the low-paid labor is concentrated.

Negro Workers

Negroes will have little excuse to migrate northward, unless, of course, shutdowns occur on a wide scale, in which case the WPA will be to be sure, add to its already heavy expenditure for Negro workers whose opportunities are normally limited anyway.

While much has been written from time to time on the importance of state regulation of minimum

Plane Collides With Mountain Near Melbourne, Australia

Sydney, Australia—Eighteen persons, including a member of the Australian parliament, were killed today in the dominion's worst air crash on mist-shrouded Mount Dandenong, 40 miles southeast of Melbourne.

Seven persons were thrown from the cabin. The others were trapped in the ship which burst into flames. C. Hawker, member of the house of representatives and a former minister of commerce; L. S. Abrahams and A. V. Gain, prominent Sydney attorneys, were among the victims.

The machine, with crew of four including a hostess, was bound from Adelaide to Melbourne. It was operated by the Australian National Airways.

A storekeeper at the town of Kircumba said he heard the plane roaring through the mist.

"A few seconds later I heard an awful crash and ran out of the store," he related. "I could see the wreck not far away. It was smashed to smithereens and blazing like mad."

Claims State Joining In Midwestern Revolt

Manitowish—Wisconsin has joined the growing revolt of midwestern states against their state and national governments, Julius J. Heil, Republican candidate for governor, asserted in a radio address here last night.

Heil declared that "Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Indiana, Minnesota and Michigan are determined to call a halt on the kind of public service they are getting."

"You citizens of Wisconsin . . . are tired of the brazen political spoils system which has been fastened upon this state. Tired of paying more and more taxes. Tired of seeing the army of unemployed . . . Tired of listening to quack theories of government. . . Tired of seeing officials at the head of our state government devoting their entire time and energies to advancing their own personal and political welfare."

Judge Wins Bet but Gives Loser 60 Days

Chicago—Magistrate Frank Pavlek has made sure that Irving Schroeder will not appear in his court again before Dec. 1.

Less than a week ago Schroeder bet Judge Pavlek $5 he would not be arrested before Dec. 1. The judge accepted the wager.

When Schroeder was brought before the magistrate on a charge of drunk and disorderly yesterday, Judge Pavlek promptly sent Schroeder to jail for 60 days.

wages and hours so local conditions can be adjusted, the experience of workers has been that moving across state lines retards the progress of the idea of a floor for wages and a ceiling for hours. The United States now has the federal standard—the first fully imperial move to standardize American industry irrespective of region or local circumstances and irrespective of physical capacity or sex.

Net results are difficult to foresee. One, however, is plainly to be expected. Children will stay in schools longer. Parents will get less help from working youngsters. Persons of 60 or over will find themselves replaced by younger workers. Certainly, the old age pension idea will find increasing support, and the Townsend movement, representing a higher pension than the federal government and states have as yet allowed, will become a bigger and bigger national issue. But even higher pensions will not take care of the rise in living costs caused by a slowly but surely depreciating dollar of purchasing power.

Groom Leaves to Get Favorite Tie, Fails to Return

Chicago—Mrs. Betty Thompson, 21, told Judge Robert C. O'Connell that she didn't believe her husband was going to come back to her.

Mrs. Thompson, seeking a divorce from Franklin Thompson, said she was married 18 months ago.

After the wedding Thompson drove his bride to their new home and, she said, he then went back to his old home for his favorite necktie.

He has not come back yet, she told Judge O'Connell, who granted her a divorce.

South Greenville Grange Will Observe Anniversary Thursday

Sixty-five years ago a group of pioneer settlers of Greenville met in a log hall and organized the first branch of a national farm organization, and fraternity in the town, South Greenville Grange.

The anniversary will be celebrated by the Grange with a chicken dinner and program Thursday evening. Serving will start at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and continue until 8 o'clock in the evening. There will be music. A dance will be held Saturday evening.

The anniversary program and dinner will be held at the Grange hall which was built in 1923. It was dedicated in the following year.

A few years after the branch was organized a new hall was built on the John L. Pingel farm and he was first master of the grange. This hall and all the property of the Grange were destroyed by fire in 1880. A new hall was erected a short time later near the same site and still later it was moved to permit enlargement. This hall was used until the present one was constructed in 1928.

George R. Schaefer is present master of the Grange. Wallace Pingel is overseer; Alice Jamison, lecturer; Ray Hart, steward; Harold Miller, assistant steward; Robert Schroeder, chaplain; Milo Anderson, treasurer; Ruth Schaefer, secretary; John Pingel, gate keeper; Bessie Rienders, cress; Mrs. F. Westphal, pomona; Viola Jahne, dora; Janet Menning, lady assistant steward; and Mrs. Charles Schroeder, juvenile matron.

Many Activities

The South Greenville Grange was organized in the early years of Grange history. The organization at that time was active with Grange agents buying everything from farm machinery to women's dresses, grain elevators, cotton and tobacco warehouses, steamboat lines. Mutual insurance companies were formed of which the present Vinland Insurance company of Winnebago county and the Ellington Insurance company of Outagamie county still survive. Crop reports were circulated, cooperative dairies formed, flour mills operated and patents secured so that the Grange might manufacture farm machinery.

"Management of such a large setup proved impossible in many instances and branches dropped out of the national organization. South Greenville grange thus claims the honor of having been tested through the most trying years in the history of the grange," Schaefer commented in reviewing its history.

"As history repeats itself we are better able to meet the ups and downs and realize which all organizations must encounter and the obstacles we are facing today.

Accomplishments

"As a unit of the national Grange we have given our support in establishing the department of agriculture in the president's cabinet, the establishment of agricultural colleges and experimental stations, rural free mail delivery, parcel post, women's suffrage, pure food

Denies Petition For Delay in Suit

Hearing on $122,820 Claim Is Set for Oct. 31

Waupaca—Judge A. M. Scheller yesterday denied a petition to continue the hearing of the claim of W. H. Dick, Birmingham, Ala., for $122,820 against the estate of the late William H. Hatten, New London lumberman. Trial was set for 10 o'clock next Monday morning.

The original date set for the hearing of the largest of the claims against the Hatten estate was Oct. 26, and counsel for the defense was adverse to having the case postponed.

The plaintiff was represented by Attorney E. E. Browne, associate counsel with Harsh, Harsh and Harsh, Memphis Tenn. Attorney J. G. Hardgrove of Miller, Mack and Fairchild represented the First Wisconsin Trust company, administrator of the estate.

State Official, Attorney Facing Extortion Trial

Begin Testimony on Charge of Attempt to Extort $2,000

Milwaukee — (U) — Walter A. Drews, state board of health investigator, and Attorney Michael Wittenberg today faced trial in municipal court on charges they attempted to extort $2,000 from Dr. Leland Trump on threat of having his license revoked, last July.

Civil Judge Thaddeus J. Pruss, sitting in district court, yesterday overruled pleas of Joseph A. Padway, Wittenberg's counsel, and Roland Steine, attorney for Drews, that the charges be dismissed.

Dr. Trump testified at the preliminary hearing that Wittenberg called July 2, showing him a copy of a report prepared for the state board which Wittenberg characterized as "very serious." Wittenberg then remarked, Dr. Trump said, "I need $500 by 5 p. m."

Quotes Wittenberg

Dr. Trump said he gave Wittenberg $30 and a diamond ring, and that Wittenberg said he could get Dr. Trump out of the "mess" for $2,000. He quoted Wittenberg as saying:

"I can fix everything through my connection with Drews, the state board of health and the district attorney."

When Wittenberg called again, Dr. Trump testified, John Zilavy, investigator for the district attorney, and a deputy sheriff were behind a door, and arrested Wittenberg as he was opening an envelope filled with paper.

Dr. Trump testified that on July 7 Drews called and informed him he had "lots of complaints." The next day, Dr. Trump said, Drews called again, with Zilavy and the deputy behind the door again, and said:

Asked Clean Record

"As man to man, one hand out to wash the other. I want my 16 years with the state board kept clean."

Cross-examined, Dr. Trump said Drews never was in on any conversation he had with Wittenberg.

Zilavy testified Wittenberg made a confession, and said the attorney had telephoned to Drews from the prosecutor's office and arranged for a meeting in connection with a $2,000 deal.

Steine maintained Drews had been entrapped by the district attorney's office.

Menasha Youth to Give Demonstration Debate

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Arrangements for three speech institutes at which hundreds of students from high schools all over Wisconsin will compete were announced today by the Wisconsin High School Forensic association.

They will be held at Barron on October 29, at Madison on November 18 and 19, and at Sparta on December 9. The institutes are held to give high school students and coaches an opportunity to learn all branches of forensics through instruction and supervised participation.

University of Wisconsin debaters, including Robert Desjarlais of Menasha and John Short of Manitowish, will give demonstration debates.

4-H Club Program at Waupaca Next Week

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Four-H club achievement days, at which club members and leaders are recognized for their work completed, will be held in several northeastern Wisconsin counties during the next few weeks, the state club office said today.

The programs also include plays, talks, movies and other kinds of entertainment for club members.

The Marinette county program was held on Oct. 22, the Waupaca county program is scheduled for Nov. 2. Brown county club members will meet on Nov. 12, while the Shawano county program will also be held on Nov. 12.

Silence of State Department Is No Approval of Munich Pact

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Since Munich, our higher government officials have withdrawn into silence concerning the state of the world. That silence, however, should not be misconstrued. It is not the silence of tacit approval. On the contrary, this government does not feel reassured by the settlement. It is disturbed. And its anxiety is increased by Japan's new control of the whole Chinese coast, marking the elimination of British influence there.

This is stated at this time because the opposite impression might be gathered from the Trafalgar day address by American Ambassador Kennedy in London. He urged reconciliation between democratic and dictator countries.

"Instead of hammering away at what are regarded as irreconcilables, they could advantageously bend their energies toward solving their common problems by an attempt to re-establish good relations on a world basis," Kennedy said. "It is true that the democratic and dictator countries have important and fundamental divergencies of outlook which, in certain matters, go deeper than politics. But there is simply no sense, common or otherwise, in letting these differences grow into unrelenting antagonisms."

Those remarks should not be taken as the expression of this government's views. I think there is good reason to state that Kennedy was out of line. Secretary Hull is, I confidently believe, unrelenting in his antagonism to the Hitler policy. As high officials are not accustomed to airing their disagreements publicly, I do not expect any official confirmation of it but I feel warranted in saying that Secretary Hull would not himself have made the Trafalgar day remarks that Kennedy made.

I inquired whether Ambassador Kennedy's remarks accurately represented the policy of this government. In reply, I was handed a copy of Secretary's Hull's statement of Sept. 30, commenting on the Munich settlement of the day previous. Certain phrases in that statement were underlined in red pencil.

Kennedy's Stand and Hull's Sound Different

In the statement, Secretary Hull said he was not undertaking to pass upon the merits of the settlement. Then he added this significant sentence: "It is hoped that in any event the forces which stand for the principles governing peaceful and orderly international relations and their proper application should not relax, but redouble, their efforts to maintain these principles of order under law, resting on a sound economic foundation."

The last part of that sentence, beginning with the word "redouble," was underlined in pencil for emphasis.

Washington is much disturbed about the future. However easy Kennedy may feel about the future, Washington is disturbed, very much disturbed. The crux of this uneasiness is Latin America, the expectation that Hitler will intensify his economic penetration there which already has been begun some time before Munich. Other factors contribute to this uneasiness but Latin America is the one which comes closest home. And so long as this government feels as it does about the probabilities, it is not disposed to feel that the situation will clear itself up by blandly pretending that no issue is at stake.

Urges Displacement Of Counties in State With Large Districts

Madison — (U) — The existing system of county government has been indicted by Prof. R. J. Colbert, head of the economics and sociology department of the University of Wisconsin's extension division, who termed county boards the "kindergartens of American politics."

Wisconsin can well displace its 71 counties with 16 large districts. Prof. Colbert said at a recent forum sponsored by the division.

"The system of towns and counties was set up in the saddle bag day and is outmoded," he declared. "We could do away entirely with towns. Today with modern transportation, the reason for the small county has disappeared."

Prof. Colbert said he directed his criticism at the system and not at members of county boards, although he asserted that many county governments are controlled by officials not qualified for their jobs.

He contended county governments are inefficient, leaderless and unwieldy because the legislative body assumes all the administrative functions.

He predicted the day will come when governmental units must operate as private corporations, when roads, buildings, school system and other municipal properties are listed on financial reports just as private corporations list their assets.

Civic Drama Club To be Organized In Council Rooms

Officers Will be Named at First Session Wednesday

Kaukauna — The first step toward forming a community theatre or civic dramatic club will be taken tomorrow evening in the council rooms where a meeting of all interested has been called. All age groups beginning with high school graduates are welcome, with an especial invitation extended to older people. Officers will be elected and chairmen for work on specific phases of dramatics named.

A wide variety of study on different aspects of dramatics will be carried on this winter and spring. Included are make-up, costumes, stage craft, stage lighting, business, carpentry, direction, painting, prompting, management, advertising and publicity.

Play in December
If all goes well, the first play of the organization will be produced early in December, and probably two or three more will be presented before next June. Under consideration for the first play are "The Whole Town's Talking," and "The Sign of the Cross."

Miss Alice Mae Whittier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben S. Whittier, 409 Crooks avenue, will direct the initial offering. Miss Whittier has been a member of the Appleton Little Theatre group for several years, appearing in many plays there, and had the lead in several productions while attending Lawrence college.

Tomorrow night's meeting will begin at 7 o'clock. Mayor Lewis F. Nelson has promised the community's full cooperation in getting the organization under way.

Ekern, Dammann Will Give Talks Tonight

Kaukauna — The Progressive campaign will be brought to Kaukauna tonight with Herman L. Ekern, candidate for United States senator, and Theodore Dammann, incumbent secretary of state running for reelection, speaking at the civic auditorium. Congressman George Schneider of Appleton, also up for reelection, and Anton Miller, candidate for state assembly, also will speak.

Club Plans Programs For County Schools

Kaukauna — Plans to present lyceum programs at county rural schools are being worked out by the Dramatic club of Outagamie Normal school. Edna Eloy, chairman of the project, assisted by Lorraine Plutz, Lucille Van Vreede and Harrison Larson.

St. Mary's Grid Squad Wins at Chilton, 20-7

Kaukauna — St. Mary's football team traveled to Chilton Sunday and returned home on the long end of a 20 to 7 score. The winners scored in the second, third and fourth quarters with the losers making their touchdown in the last period.

Commercial Pin League Teams Compete Tonight

Kaukauna — Commercial league bowlers will roll again tonight with Mellow Browns opposing K. E. W. and Post Office matched with Gustmans on the 7 o'clock shift. At 9 o'clock Witt's Pinks will roll Thilmans and Jirikowics will clash with the Little Chute Bottlers.

It Is Said--

That the Ritz Tavern bowlers did not win any games in their major league match against Schell's Alleys at Kaukauna last night but for sheer consistency they hung up a mark that's hard to beat. They hit 800 their first game, 800 their second game, and wound up with 801.

W. C. O. F. to Meet at Jirikowic Residence

Kaukauna — Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, Sacred Heart court No. 555, will meet at 7:30 Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Joseph Jirikowic, 117 Sixth street, to recite the rosary. Mrs. Jirikowic died Sunday in Green Bay as the result of injuries received in an auto accident the same morning.

American Legion Will Hold Armistice Party

Kaukauna — The American Legion is planning an Armistice day party for Sunday, Nov. 12, at Legion hall. The entertainment committee is in charge of arrangements.

Kaukauna Rotarians Will Meet at Hotel

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna Rotary club will hold its regular luncheon meeting at 12:30 tomorrow at Hotel Kaukauna. The program is in the hands of Dr. Albert Leigh, Arthur Lock and Joseph Lefevre.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Veterans of Foreign Wars to Entertain at Dinner Tonight

Kaukauna — Veterans of Foreign Wars will entertain the auxiliary and friends at a 6:30 dinner and program tonight at Legion hall. Paul Cramp, Milwaukee department commander, and Armin Scheurle, Appleton senior district commander, will speak. Ed Ives is chairman for the affair, assisted by William Warnecke, John Garlich, M. J. Verfurth, Charles Clune and Arthur Kromer.

Royal Neighbors of America will hold a Halloween party tomorrow evening at Odd Fellows hall. Cards and games will be played and lunch served.

Plans for the initiation of candidates at the Nov. 10 meeting will be made Thursday night as Elks.

District Heads Of Lions Will be Honored Tonight

500 Persons are Expected At Dancing Party.

Kaukauna — Tonight at Rainbow Gardens, the Kaukauna Lions club will celebrate district governor month with a dancing party and program for Wisconsin's three district heads.

Frank V. Birch, Milwaukee, immediate past president of Lions International, will be the principal speaker. Birch was feted by the Lions at a state dinner last Nov. 23, with more than 500 Lions attending. An attendance at least equal to last year is anticipated tonight by the Kaukauna invitations committee. All state clubs are cooperating with the Kaukauna group in staging the affair, which is the biggest event of the year for Wisconsin Lions. A dinner at 6:45 will open the evening's program, followed by speeches and dancing.

The district governors who will attend and give short talks are A. U. Stearns, Sturgeon Bay; A. W. Gerhard, Wausau; and Dr. Harry J. Watson, Milwaukee. Toastmaster will be Francis J. Flanagan, Chilton deputy district governor, and Henry Pandoro of Milwaukee will be song leader.

Attendance is not restricted to Lions, as their friends are welcome, according to Mike Klein and J. W. Weyenberg, Kaukauna co-chairmen of the ticket committee. The affair is a guest night, and delegations of Lions and their ladies from all over the state will be present.

Committee Inspects Legion Hall Boiler

Kaukauna — A committee of the common council, headed by Oscar Aiger, chairman of the finance committee, and Frank Fernal, chairman of the committee on public buildings, inspected the heating equipment of Legion hall Sunday. At the council meeting of Oct. 18 a Legion committee asked the council to provide the hall with a new boiler, and the council voted to inspect the premises first. The committee will report back to the council at the Nov. 1 meeting.

Dr. Hittner Returns From New York City

Seymour — Dr. V. J. Hittner of Seymour has returned from New York City, where he was elected to fellowship in the American College of Surgeons on Oct. 17. He attended the annual clinical conference of the American College of Surgeons and several surgical clinics in New York and Brooklyn. Mrs. Hittner accompanied him to New York City.

Nineteen members of the Royal Neighbor lodge and their husbands met at the home of Mrs. Mike Trautfler Friday evening. During the business meeting Mrs. Pope gave a report on the work done in the same lodge at Royaton. Whist and schafkopf furnished the entertainment after the meeting. In the first game prizes were won by Mrs. Louis Reis and Mrs. George Mett; in the latter, by Frank Heagle and Wesley Sherman. Lunch was served by Mrs. Trautfler and Miss Warrine Sherman.

Season's Attendance at Grignon Home Doubles Figures for 1937

Kaukauna — With the Grignon home officially closing to visitors Sunday, an attendance of about twice that of 1937 was recorded for the last season. In 1937 there were about 2,000 visitors, and a checkup this month will show an attendance in the neighborhood of 4,000. Several organizations are planning to visit the home in a body this week.

The last Sunday visitors were a couple from Valrico, Florida. The home opened this spring with the first registration being a couple from Greenville, Texas.

Sixteen organizations visited the home in groups this last season. The Kaukauna Eagles led in numbers, with more than 200 going through the historic structure. Other Kaukauna organizations to go through the building were students of Outagamie Normal school.

TO WOO ITALY

To woo Italy for France may be the job ahead of Andre Francois-Poncet (above), chosen French ambassador to Rome subject to Italy's approval. His task would be to convert Italy from a potential enemy to a potential ally—to France.

Author of Dramatic Hit on Broadway Is Fond du Lac Woman

Fond du Lac — (4)—The name of the author on the programs of Broadway's new dramatic hit, "Miss Ginty," is given as E. B. Ginty, but that doesn't mislead anyone from Fond du Lac.

The "E. B." stands for Elizabeth Beall.

"Missouri Legend" is the first play of Miss Ginty, a native of Fond du Lac, although she has written a number of others and has led thousands of manuscripts. When she went to New York she became secretary to David Belasco. She declares she doesn't remember how many years she worked for the famous theatrical producer.

"Missouri Legend" deals with the last days of Jesse James, and is laid in the Ozark mountains. Her conception of James is that of a man torn between puritanical and bandit tendencies.

Miss Ginty admits she never has visited the Ozarks. The play was inspired by a friend who, returning from Missouri, reported some natives of the Ozarks still insist "Mr. James was drove to it."

"It took me a year to write the play, because I was ill," she relates. "Just as I got ready to start for the Ozarks an ambulance backed up to my door."

Birthday Party Given At Shiocott Residence

Shiocott — Friends were entertained at cards Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rueden in honor of the birthday anniversary of the latter. Women's prizes at schafkopf were awarded to Mrs. William Rusch, high, and Mrs. Clarence Neusbaum, low; high score for men, Edgar Peep, and low, Lester Schmidt. The latter also received the carrying prize.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Mielke, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Rusch and daughter, Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Neusbaum, Mr. and Mrs. George Bruch and daughter, Germaine, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Peep.

A daughter was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beyer, and a daughter Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Nick Speehr at their homes.

Word was received here of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Rolfs, Appleton, last Sunday. The Rolfs family recently moved to Appleton. Mr. Rolfs conducted a barber shop here for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Manley and daughter, Nancy, route 2, Appleton, were dinner guests Sunday at the home of Percy Braatz.

Guests at the Fred Schroeder and Frank Beyer homes Friday included Mr. and Mrs. John Scheer and son Merlyn of Colby, Clark county.

Dinner guests at the Edgar Peep home Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jurek and daughter, Janice, Menasha, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Braatz, Shiocott.

Dr. and Mrs. La Fayette Thompson of Manitowish were Sunday guests at the home of Senator and Mrs. Mike Mack.

Miss Rosemary Kuecher, Appleton, and Miss Isabelle Miller, Oshkosh, spent the weekend at their homes here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Pingel and sons of Chilton were guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mearl McCully.

A. V. Dreier of Wabeno was a guest at the Siefelst home Sunday. H. was accompanied home by Mrs. Dreier and son, Donald, who spent the last week with relatives here.

Bolens, Veteran Democrat, Scorns LaFollettes and Is Certain He'll Succeed Phil

One of the confusing factors in Wisconsin's curious political campaign this year is the position of the state Democratic party, which passed through some serious troubles before it rounded out its slate a few weeks ago.

Recent rumors in state political circles served to befuddle the picture still more.

To determine the position of the Democratic state ticket, and the intentions of its candidate for governor, Harry W. Bolens, the Post-Crescent's state capitol correspondent visited Senator Bolens at his home in Port Washington over the weekend. This is the second of a series of articles portraying the personalities of men chosen by Wisconsin political parties as standard-bearers (this year).

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD
Port Washington — If you have heard some of the rumors which have been going about lately to the effect that Senator Harry W. Bolens, the Democratic candidate for governor of Wisconsin, is going to withdraw, cast it aside now.

In his big, rambling old house on the top of a hill in this little harbor town, the portly sharp-tongued, humorous veteran of a score of Wisconsin political campaigns tells his callers that his campaign is not an orthodox one, but that it is effective nevertheless, and that on Nov. 8 he Senator Duffy and the Democratic state slate will be elected to office.

Senator Bolens talks about his campaign in a confident, matter-of-fact way. Told that opponents are wondering about his activities, he lets it be understood that they can keep on wondering. He is going, on in his own way, without, one gathers, a great deal of suggestion or direction from state Democratic headquarters.

Campaigns by Radio

There are 71 counties in Wisconsin he points out. Campaigning through one county a day is going at a pretty good pace. When he got the nomination he had only about four weeks remaining before the election. Therefore an effective and orthodox campaign tour was out of the question. He plans to campaign almost exclusively by radio by means of the state-wide hook-up which has recently been effected, and by speeches during the time remaining in some of the important counties.

He seems to rely considerably on natural factors in this year's campaign. He predicts before many more days that the Republicans who now think of the 1938 election in terms of a fight between LaFollette and Heil, before election day, will conclude that Heil cannot win, and will accordingly swing to him.

The state election now he says, is strictly a three-cornered affair, despite Republican and Progressive efforts to portray it as a two-sided contest in which the Democrats don't cut much of a figure.

Republicans are pretty good haters, he observes, but they hate LaFollette more than they hate the Democrats. So when they begin to see the 1938 Wisconsin picture correctly, they will vote for Bolens on Nov. 8.

Scorns LaFollettes

Discussing political issues Bolens warms up rapidly. His scorn of the LaFollettes and their methods and deeds knows no bounds. Pointing out that Governor LaFollette's campaign is based on the presumption that the 1938 fight is one between liberalism and reaction, the Democratic nominee laughs, points his finger close to your nose, and delivers this realistic interpretation: "Whatever those highbinders say (the Progressives), the issue now is as it has always been: the ins want to stay in, and the outs want to get in."

They call me reactionary, and I ask them to define the word. I used to be called a radical Democrat. I have been in politics since 1873, and during that time, son, I have learned that all that is old is not bad, and all that is new is not good, and vice versa. I learned also that there are not two sides to every question, as you have heard all your life; there are many sides to every question.

He says, when his father, a loyal Bolens like to talk about the LaFollettes, father and sons. "They are the greatest 'claim-alls' we have ever seen."

They take the credit for popularizing the idea of municipal ownership of electric utilities, he points out, and intimate that it is a solely Progressive idea. An mayor of Port Washington, he recalls, Bolens aided in establishing one of the first, and most successful, municipal electric plants in the state, one that today has the record of being the most efficient steam-generating plant in the world.

Old-Age Pensions

"They brag about workmen's compensations," this sage old politician continues. "The fact is that a Progressive controlled legislature passed it in 1911, but it was recommended and prepared by a legislative committee chosen by a Stalwart legislature in 1909."

"They holler about old-age pensions when the Order of Eagles began to advocate it and when LaFollette was still in knee pants." The first prominent supporter in Wisconsin politics of the old-age pension idea was Harry R. McLaughlin, now a member of the state industrial commission, and Democratic candidate for district attorney of Milwaukee county, he goes on.

Bolens is a big-shot in his home town, where he is one of the leading manufacturers, and where he made a large fortune. That fortune, he says, didn't last, however. The depression took care of that. Observing that the Progressives are picturing him as a "millionaire," he promises that if either of the LaFollette brothers can find the million which he is supposed to possess, he will promptly give them $250,000 of it. "No," I'll amend that; they can have $800,000; then they'll have enough to retire from politics, and we may have some peace."

Differs With Others

While he is a leading citizen of Port Washington, he is at odds with the other leading citizens on matters of politics, he admits. The other day the local Rotary club, following a long tradition, took a poll of its members to ascertain their attitude on the coming election. "They all voted Republican except for me and my doctor around the corner," he reported. "And they think that because they're almost unanimous that the rest of the world is. In 1932 the club poll showed the same result, and the Republicans got the magnificent total of four states. In 1936 they voted again, and the Republicans carried two states."

Bolens has been prominent in Port Washington community life, where his plant now employs about 70 men, but in its hey-day had more than 200 on its payroll. He has been mayor, and a leading force in its local government for decades.

He is an inventor and proud of it. He has more than 100 patents in his own name, in the fields of radio, printing, and his own manufacturing line, garden tractors and gasoline engines. One of his patents, which he bought from an itinerant printer many years ago, brought him $1,250,000 in resale to a manufacturer of printing presses, he relates. Others brought in tidy sums from the Radio Corporation of America, and in improving the efficiency of his own tractor output.

Doesn't "Get Old"

"I'm curious, and active. That's why I don't get old," he says. His garden tractors—he gives his business as "taking the aches out of acres"—are used all over the world, wherever rowed crops are tilled. European kings, noblemen, and foreign governments have them and are using them. American millionaires, farmers, and college experiment stations are also buying them.

He is also a farmer, owns a big farm in Sheboygan county, and earlier in life took a turn at newspapering. He worked at various points, including service on a Fond du Lac paper when that community was an important political center in the old days, and once published the Sheboygan Daily Journal at Sheboygan.

His political life began in 1872, he says, when his father, a loyal Democrat, took him to a Democratic national convention. He has at-

TALKS MONDAY

Philip S. Hanna, Chicago financial editor, will address the first of a series of forum meetings here Monday noon in the Conway hotel. The series of meetings are being sponsored by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce and three service clubs, Rotary, Kiwanis, and Lions.

Card Party Given at Little Chute Dwelling

Little Chute — Mrs. Jacob Coppus, Garfield avenue, entertained a number of relatives at her home Sunday evening. Cards were played and a lunch was served. Prizes at schafkopf were awarded. Frank and Charles Coppus and the prizes at rummy were won by Mrs. Robert Eslinger and Mrs. Frank Coppus. Consolation prizes were given Mrs. Charles Coppus, Mrs. Peter Eslinger, and Mrs. Frank Coppus, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Coppus, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coppus, Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Hermens and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eslinger.

Conlon Hecht of Milwaukee was a guest of friends here Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vanden Heuvel, Main street, entertained a large number of relatives at their home Sunday evening. Cards furnished amusement and a lunch was served. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vanden Heuvel, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Vanden Heuvel, tended every important one since. One which he missed was the one which nominated Al Smith in 1928. That was held in Houston, and he didn't like the climate down there.

Although he has been a member of the state senate only since 1933, he has been a member of "the third house," the lobby, since 1875. He started as a boy when he was a messenger in the capitol and got to know all the leading legislative politicians.

Harry Bolens is in the running, he wants it to be known, and intends to be the next governor of Wisconsin.

Financial Editor Will Speak Before Chamber and Clubs

Philip Hanna to Address Forum Meeting Here Monday

Philip S. Hanna, editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, will be the speaker at the first forum meeting sponsored by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce and three service clubs, Rotary, Kiwanis, and Lions, next Monday noon at the Conway hotel.

Hanna, a writer on financial and economic subjects the last 20 years, will talk on "The Business Outlook." The meeting will be the first of the fall and winter series which the chamber and service clubs have sponsored with considerable success in recent years.

A native of Aurora, Ill., Hanna is a graduate of the University of Illinois school of business administration. He has reported for economic and financial journals and worked on the financial section of a metropolitan newspaper.

His daily column, "The Round Table of Business," which appears in the Chicago Journal of Commerce is widely read for interpretation of business news and trends, and as a non-partisan commentary on government and politics.

Joseph Koffend is chairman of the forum committee from the chamber which is in charge of the meeting next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wynboom, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Hietpas, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Vanden Heuvel, Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Vanden Heuvel, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kostka and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Vanden Heuvel.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ver Hasstelt, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Verstynen, Mrs. M. P. Verstynen, Francis Verstynen, Edward Delahanty, Mrs. George Delahanty of Rockford, Ill., spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hanagrue, Grand avenue.

Heart disease takes approximately three times as many American lives annually as all kinds of accidents combined.

Gray hair tells tales

But

Canute Water

Keeps Your Secret!

If you have gray hair, simply wet it with Canute Water and allow to dry. In from 1 to 3 applications (depending on shade), it will be completely re-colored... similar to its former natural shade. All in one day, if you wish. After that, a single treatment, only once a month, will keep it that way.

You may then curl, wave or set your hair — or get a permanent — if you like. The color is also proof against sun, air, salt-water and shampooing.

Canute Water is pure, colorless and crystal-clear, and will leave your hair clean and natural to the touch. Even you, yourself, will be unable to distinguish the re-colored hair from your natural. You will be delighted to see how completely Canute Water solves your problem.

No Skin Test Needed

CANUTE WATER is so safe and pure that it has never injured a single user in 24 years.

To the best of our knowledge it is the ONLY hair-coloring preparation proven perfectly harmless by a noted Scientist in one of America's greatest universities.

Buy a bottle now and you'll soon understand why CANUTE WATER is OUR BEST SELLER.

450 Attend Annual Ladies Night Meet Of Lutheran Clubs

Clintonville Group Entertains Wolf River Council Members

Clintonville — About 450 were present for the annual ladies night program for the Wolf River Council of Lutheran Men's clubs Sunday evening at the Clintonville armory. The event was sponsored by the Men's club of St. Martin Lutheran church of this city. Visitors were present from Wittenberg, Manawa, New London, Shawano, Embarrass and the surrounding community.

Opening the program at 7:30 was a group of selections by Sawyer's orchestra of this city. This was followed by community singing and the address of welcome by Albert Fillnow of this city, president of the local club and also president of the Wolf River Council. Other program numbers included a cornet duet by Mae Patterson and Ellen Mae Wartinbee, with piano accompaniment by June Abrahamson; and selections by the girls choir of St. Martin church, under the direction of Arthur Schermer.

The principal speaker of the evening was the Rev. Walter Pankow of New London, who traced the history of the Lutheran church in America. He was introduced by A. J. Felton of Shawano, principal of St. James Lutheran school there.

The remainder of the program included a saxophone solo by Dwyndal Sawyer, a dramatization of the history of the American flag by the Lutheran Boy Scouts of Troop 30; a demonstration of tricks of magic by Robert Olen; and community singing.

The program was followed by a social hour and the serving of a lunch in the armory basement.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bialkowski and Mrs. Russell Miller of Appleton were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dexter.

Sub-District Rally

A sub-district rally of Women's Missionary societies will take place Thursday at Salem Evangelical church in this city. Mrs. Harry Kobs of Bonduel will be chairman of the afternoon session, which will open at 2:15. The evening meeting will begin at 7:30 and will be in charge of Mrs. Lloyd Pernot, Clintonville, president of the local Young People's Missionary Circle. The speaker at both sessions will be Dr. Susan Baurendt, a missionary to Japan for the last 38 years. Dr. Baurendt, now on a furlough to the United States, is visiting relatives at Madison. Attending the rally will be missionary workers from Maple Creek, Clintonville, Marion, Bonduel, Gillett and Mariette. The Ladies Aid society of the local church serve a supper in connection with the rally.

Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Miller visited at Madison Sunday with their son, Boone, a student at the University of Wisconsin.

Mrs. T. A. Landon left Monday for Madison to visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. V. E. Kivlin, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hamburg returned to their home at Fond du Lac Monday after a weekend visit at the home of the latter's brother, Fred Lange, and family. Sunday guests at the Lang home were also Mrs. C. D. McCarthy and children of Weyauwega.

A group of relatives were entertained Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Meyer, the occasion being their son Jack's sixteenth birthday anniversary. The guests were Otto Meyer and daughters, Ranelia and LaNora, Earl Meyer, Norman Smith, Miss Eleanor Suess and Mrs. Ella French, all of Oshkosh. The latter remained for a longer visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Meyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sorenson returned home Sunday evening from a ten days' absence during which they were at Detroit, Mich., where he attended a national convention of metallurgical engineers. Enroute home, they spent the weekend with relatives in Racine and Milwaukee. Mr. Sorenson holds the position of head of the metallurgical department at the Four Wheel Drive Auto company in this city.

Fremont Street Opened To Traffic on Monday

Fremont street, recently paved by the Simpson and Parker Construction company, was opened to traffic Monday, according to Alfred Wickesberg, city engineer. John street, paved by the same company, was opened to traffic Saturday. Street department workmen still are grading terraces on Fremont street.

PROFESSOR AND HIS LABORATORY ASSISTANTS
White rats are doing their part in helping Lawrence students study various human diseases. Professor Paul C. Beaver of the biology department is seen standing beside the cages in the basement of Science hall. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Rats Lend Aid to Lawrence Students Studying Diseases

BY DON ANDERSON

Twenty-six white rats, with pink eyes, are scuffling in their cages in the basement of Science hall on the Lawrence college campus. Some of them are sleek and healthy. Some are a bit shoddy. A few look downright sick.

They are sick. If you had disease germs stuck into you by a biologist, you wouldn't look or feel sprightly. And that is what is being done to this colony of rodents. But that's just some rats' lives.

Science hall has probably harbored rats before. Even the highest type of buildings must tolerate such things now and then. These rats are different. They don't have to slink around dark corners or fear the janitor. They are there for a purpose. They are martyrs.

Paul C. Beaver, assistant professor of biology, looked over his flock yesterday and explained: "We use them to produce certain diseases so our students may observe the progress and development of these diseases. Trichinosis, for example. See that fellow over in the last cage. He's got a bad case of trichinosis."

Ha's Real Sick
Professor Beaver lifted up the cage for a better view of the stricken one. The rat did look ill. His hair was patchy and didn't have the clean sheen to it that some of his healthier relatives possess. Besides, he appeared ill at ease and a little ashamed of his plight.

"Now these three. They have trichinosis, too, but they aren't quite so sick," Professor Beaver said, indicating another cage. The three patients within the cage seemed to be in better spirits than the stricken one. They weren't nearly so ratty in their appearance.

Trichinosis, Professor Beaver explained, is a highly disagreeable malady that occurs in rats and mice. When the trichinae, the worms which cause the disease, get into a human being, he's in for a lot of trouble. And the rat, which in this case is being used for study of

Medical Society to Elect New Officers

New officers of the Outagamie County Medical society will be elected at a dinner and meeting this evening at the Riverview sanatorium. Dr. Richard Davidson, Chicago, who is affiliated with the Chicago Municipal sanatorium, will speak on "The Present View of the Tuberculosis Problem."

Stage Equipment Will Be Installed on Nov. 11

Stage equipment will be installed on the stage of Appleton High school's new auditorium on Nov. 11, according to H. H. Helble, principal. Included will be a velvet curtain, and asbestos curtain, a moving picture screen. The purchase will be financed from the school activities fund.

Sales Mean Jobs

The move is being made to reorganize the Outagamie County Street and Highway Safety council to bring about a more effective method of promoting traffic safety in the county.

County Legion Council To Elect New Officers

The county council of the American Legion will elect officers at a dinner meeting at the Oney Johnston post clubhouse Thursday night. Ray Reider, Little Chute, is present commander.

Discussion of Armistice day programs and the membership drive now in progress will be held.

Kiwanis Club Will See European Trip Pictures

G. D. Ziegler will show colored motion pictures of his recent European trip at the noon meeting of the Appleton Kiwanis club tomorrow in the Conway hotel.

Ruth Schwandt Wins Tennis Tournament At Roosevelt School

Ruth Schwandt last week won the eighth grade tennis singles tournament by defeating Norma Reuter at Roosevelt Junior High school. Sixteen girls were entered in the tournament.

Margaret Towner and Vera Tilly defeated Betty DeBauer and Jean Gebhart to go into the finals in the girls' doubles net tourney. Jerry Luebke and Betty Hoffman have reached the semi-finals in the same meet.

In the semi-finals in the ninth grade tennis tournament are Janet Laehn and Audrey Waltman who defeated Virginia Fose and Shirley Foreman respectively.

Mary Lou Collins and Joyce Kessler defeated Arlene Dewey and Jean Rindall to go into the semi-finals in the ninth grade tennis doubles tournament. In the other bracket, Mary Sylvester and Audrey Waltman won over Rosemary Schmitz and Prescilla Raney to reach the semi-finals.

Fifty-four girls are entered in the ninth grade ping-pong tournament and 47 are competing in the ninth grade badminton meet. The program is directed by Miss Genevieve Kronschnabel.

Polls Will Open at 6 O'clock, Close at 8

The polls for the Nov. 8 election in Appleton will be open from 6 o'clock in the morning to 8 o'clock in the evening, the same as in the past. Carl J. Becher, city clerk, reminded election officials and voters today. The city council last Wednesday adopted an ordinance changing the time from 7 o'clock in the morning to 7 o'clock in the evening but then voted to reconsider its action until after the November election to avoid confusion.

Safety Council Group Will Meet Wednesday

The resolutions committee named last week to prepare a plan to make the Outagamie County Safety council an official adjunct of the county will meet Wednesday to further the proposed plan. The plan will be submitted to the county board next month for consideration.

The move is being made to reorganize the Outagamie County Street and Highway Safety council to bring about a more effective method of promoting traffic safety in the county.

'The Volcano of Gold' Is New Book Available for Children

Among new books for youngsters placed in the shelves of the children's section of the Appleton Public library this week is "The Volcano of Gold" by Richard Gill, the children's librarian. Miss Dorothy Kotkosky, said today.

It is a swift moving tale of adventure involving two boys, Manga, an Indian lad and native of the Amazon jungles, and Jimmie Parker, a young American camera man, in the pages of the book hunt for the tiger-men to avenge the death of a member of Manga's tribe. The scene of the story is in the South American jungles near the volcano, Reventador.

Other volumes for children available at the library follow:

"Nine" by Angelo; "Hoodbeats in the Wilderness" by Baker; "Instants of the Zoo" by Boulenger; "The Bashful Goldfish" by Brice; "Clue of the Faded Dress" by Chapman; "Jacques the Goat-Herd" by Cormack; "South Sea Playmates" by Eskridge; "A Piping Again" by Fylenan; "Deep-Flowing Brook" by Goss; "The United States" by Hacker; "Haverhill Herald" by Hall; "The Harvest Feast" by Harper; "Saturday Magic" by Karsten; "All About Parties" by Kaye; "Patsy Ann" by King; "Judith, Still As A Mouse Stories" by Lacey; "Safety Can Be Fun" by Leat; "Bound Girl of Cobble Hill" by Lenski; "Once Upon A Time" by Milbous; "Us-All" by Muns; "Gray Wolf" by Montgomery; "Things A Boy Can Do With Electricity" by Morgan; "The Flag of Our United States" by Moss; "Forest Neighbors" by Patch; "The White Camel" by Phillips; "Lucretia Ann In the Golden West" by Ploewhead; "Lucretia Ann On the Oregon Trail" by Ploewhead; "Sweet Medicine" by Randolph; "I Have A Song to Sing You" by Richards; "Little Inch-high People" by Riesenr; "How Do You Do?" by Stephenson; "Ann of Ear Ton Ranch" by Stevens; "Children of Switzerland" by Thorsmark; "Scatter" by Warren; "Famous Cats of Fairyland" by Wimberly.

Utility Is Authorized To Abandon Heating Plant at West Bend

Madison—The public service commission Monday authorized the Wisconsin Gas and Electric company to abandon its heating utility at West Bend, on which the company reported a loss of $8,000 a year.

The plant served 24 customers to whom the utility offered about $10,000 toward the purchase of individual furnaces and other heating units.

All but one of the customers agreed to this settlement, which the commission found to be reasonable.

Other actions taken by the regulatory body today:

Authorized the Willow River company to build a transmission line from Knapp to the hydroplant of Northern States Power company at Cedar Falls, Dunn county and construct a substation at a total cost of $25,000.

Observe Continued Decline in Deaths From Tuberculosis

Madison—The state board of health noted today a further decline in the number of deaths from tuberculosis, against which the state is waging a battle with increased funds.

Aids totaling $688,349.65, on the basis of $7 a week per patient, were paid to Wisconsin's 20 county sanatoria during the fiscal year which ended last June, the board said.

Last year's toll from tuberculosis, meanwhile, stood at 1,005, lowest in the history of the public health service and reports indicate another substantial decrease this year.

The fiscal year's allotments to the county sanatoria was the highest on record. A year ago the total was $669,239.51 and two years ago it was $600,000.

The board reports that the trend in the conquest of the disease is toward increasing facilities for treatment of early cases, while complete segregation of advanced cases has been recognized by law as essential.

water utility permission to construct a new well costing $10,000.

Ordered a rehearing in Madison, Nov. 10 on a recent decision revising rates of the municipal electric utility at Kiel. Rehearing was asked by the utility, which said testimony taken at a previous hearing created an erroneous impression.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE HOME

Marie Schneider's Tested Recipes

Vegetable Variations

Do you have a hard time preparing vegetables news ways these autumn days in order to make the meals more attractive and less monotonous? There are innumerable ways of preparing vegetables to add that touch of "differentness" that lifts meals from the commonplace.

There are six simple ways to vary the vegetables, ways well known but not Miss Schneider often brought to mind. We may prepare them creamed, au gratin, escalloped, in croquettes, baked, in soups or chowders and of course buttered, which is possibly the most common method.

I am going to give you a recipe for baked Hubbard squash and escalloped corn and also my recipe for hollandaise sauce. These are ever so many vegetables that call for hollandaise sauce. Asparagus fresh or canned, broccoli and cauliflower served with hollandaise is always popular. Many women complain about the sauce separating. The most important principle to keep in mind is gentle heat. If you can strike that happy medium of heat your sauce is sure to be a success.

Baked Hubbard Squash
3 cups cooked 1 teaspoon salt squash 1/2 cup cream
1 cup cream paprika
1/2 cup bread 5 or 6 slices crumbs bacon
Boil or bake squash until tender. Put through a sieve or potato ricer enough squash to make 3 cups. To this add salt, paprika and cream. Mix all together, turn into a greased baking dish, and sprinkle with bread crumbs. Broil bacon until half done. Remove and place on squash and bake in a hot oven 400 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Serves 6.

Escalloped Corn
1 can corn 1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons 1 tablespoon cream sugar
2 tablespoons 1 egg, beaten flour 1 tablespoon butter
1 cup bread crumbs
Place one half cup bread crumbs in the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Mix corn, cream, flour, salt, sugar, egg and melted butter and pour into dish over crumbs. Place the remaining crumbs on top. Bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven 350 degrees F.

Hollandaise Sauce
1 cup butter 1 tablespoon
3 egg yolks lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
Melt butter over boiling water in the top part of a double boiler. Now remember, this is the only time I am going to mention the word "boiling." Your butter at this point should be hot, but not too hot. Meanwhile beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Pour beat egg yolks into the melted butter all at once and with a wooden spoon start stirring slowly, evenly, but do not stop stirring. Do not let the water in the lower part of the boiler touch the upper part and do not let it come to a boil. When the sauce begins to thicken add salt and when it becomes thick enough to pour add the lemon juice. If left over fire a moment too long it will separate.

My Neighbor Says—
Tuberous rooted begonias may be carried along from one year to another if the tubers are properly cared for. Plants growing in beds should be lifted, dried and packed in sand or sawdust. The tubers should be stored in boxes and placed in a room or cellar with a temperature kept close to 50 degrees. They should be started into growth in late February or March. Plants which have been growing in pots should be dried off gradually and then stored in a dark place with a temperature at 50. Of course, the plants or tubers should be taken indoors before hard frosts come.

Four minutes boils an egg thoroughly if you like the white set and yolks heated in the center; five minutes make the white firm and sets the yolks; 10 minutes boils eggs hard.

When making cabbage salad, time is saved if cabbage is first cut and then put through coarse grinder of food chopper.

When purchasing buttons for children's clothing always buy an extra dozen of each kind so that when a button is lost you will find no difficulty in replacing it.

Do not take too thick a paring off potatoes. The best part of the potato is near the skin. On the other hand, parings from turnips should be thick. The turnip has an outer part that destroys the flavor of the whole if not thoroughly removed.

To give pie crust a rich brown place mix one egg yolk with one teaspoonful of cold water. Brush over top of crust just before putting pie in oven.

Parents of Lazy Youth Should Force Him to Earn His Living

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—Your article about getting the children to leave the home nest gets a shout of praise from me, but how to do it? I married a widower with three nearly grown children. I was good to them and they love me. So well they are not willing to leave Mother and her cooking. The two girls married soon after leaving college and they chose fine, sensible, well-educated young men, but it was easy to get them out of the house? I should say not. They never would have gone if I had not kept moving into smaller and smaller apartments. Because they can't come home, where there is no room for them, they have settled down to a salutary routine of cooking and housekeeping and baby-rearing. Now the problem is the boy. He is now 20. Won't go to school. Won't work. Hates the slightest physical or mental exertion. Sits at home and does nothing but play solitaire and reads newspapers and detective stories and smoke. How can I get him on his way out of the nest in a manner beneficial to him?

MRS. B.

Get the boy a job and tell him that henceforth he is his own meat ticket, and that if he wants to eat he will have to work. Then go to live for the time being in one room in a hotel so there will be no place for him. Evidently he is one of the birds that will never leave the warm home nest of his own accord. He will not only have to be pushed out of it, but you also will have to destroy the nest so he cannot return to it.

There is no problem that parents have to face that is more difficult than that of what to do with their lazy, purposeless children who settle down on mother and father to be supported, and who refuse to make the slightest effort to provide for themselves. It is a problem so complicated with a false idea of parental duty, and so mixed up with maudlin affection, that most fathers and mothers lack the nerve and backbone to solve it in the only rational way. Which is by turning the youngsters out on their own and locking the door behind them.

Combining fruit and cereal courses sometimes helps. While dinner is cooking in the evening, bake some apples and serve them the next morning stuffed with cereal.

Serve creamed eggs on sausage cakes or pour them over toast sprinkled with grated cheese. Scramble together, eggs and tiny sausages, fish flakes, crisp bacon bits or dried beef. Garnish eggs or meats with apple or apricot rings, slightly sweetened.

Ring some changes with omelets. You can range through many a combination with vegetables, meat and cheese.

Some tricks with toast will be helpful. Make a spread of pineapple jam, cinnamon and butter and use over hot toast or sprinkle browned sugar mixed with butter and chopped raisins over toast. Reheat and serve piping. Orange marmalade mixed with orange juice and soft butter makes a grand filling for thin hot toast, served sandwich style.

Maple loss, a variation of French toast, is a trick breakfast dish. Dip thin strips of bread into egg yolks, thinned with milk. Brown quickly in hot bacon fat. Sprinkle with shaved maple sugar mixed with soft butter.

Raisins go very well in whole wheat muffins and cornbread baked in thin layers and put together with spicy apple-butter, served hot will make a breakfast with all ages at the breakfast table.

he taken indoors before hard frosts come.

Mass of Isolated Facts Is of Little Practical Use to Child

BY ANGELO PATRI

Lately it has become the thing to quiz children on all sorts of facts. Who built the pyramids? What's the longest bone in your body? Who said, "A fool and his money are soon parted"? Is a duck a tool, a fairy or a fish? Why is fire hot and ice cold? What makes the wind blow? What does 1914 say to you?

If the truth could be told by the suffering child these quizzes give him a pain and little else. In school, at home — some people think that the dinner table should be a round table of knowledge asked and knowledge given — in Sunday School, the luckless children are pursued by people anxious to ascertain the amount and the quality of their intelligence.

Answering these questions and their like are no measure of a child's intelligence. If he knows the answers he has probably been enticed or forced into reading and memorizing facts from reference books and encyclopedias. Somebody had the erroneous idea that in formation a mass of isolated facts fertilized intelligence. I am here to say this is not so. A fact is important in relation to other facts and useful only if it applied in personal experience of some sort. Taken out of its setting, forced out of relation to anything else, it is as dead as an empty shell.

This practice of asking children a list of questions, the answers to which the questioner has looked up beforetime, is a cruel and inhuman practice. It should be stopped by those who wish children well. A school child will learn in the course of time that 1914 was the year in which the terrible World War was launched upon a tortured world. Let that be enough. Don't serve that dish at the dinner table, nor the others like it. Let mealtime be a happy time of rest and recreation. Tell pleasant stories, laugh much and in kindness and charity toward all men, with special reference to children.

Of course children ought to have a fund of general information; certainly they should. But it ought to be information that concerns their experiences, applies to their interests, imparts their desire to do more and better work in their search for knowledge. A list of questions intended to elicit information touching every field of human endeavor is about as useful for the education of a child as sitting on the dictionary is to his vocabulary.

Answers First Two Questions In Bridge Exam

BY ELY CULBERTSON

The Self-Rating Examination gets into full stride today with the answers to questions 1 and 2.

LAST TUESDAY'S QUESTIONS
Question 1: Both sides vulnerable. You are South, the dealer, and hold:

♠ K 8 5 2 ♠ A K Q 6 3 ♣ K 4 ♣ 7

What call do you make?
Answer: The correct call is one spade, not one heart. With equal length in both major suits the superiority of the heart over the spade suit should not be allowed to obstruct the normal exchange of information between partners. If South starts with one heart he is virtually obligating himself to a final heart contract, because if he attempts to show his spade suit later North will think (a) that South has only four spades, or (b) that South has six hearts and five spades, or (c) that South, by "reversing the bidding," is showing a stronger hand than is actually held. (If you passed entirely take 30 points demerit. If you bid one heart take 10 points demerit. For any other bid take 25 points demerit.)

Question 2: With both sides vulnerable, North deals and bids one heart. Next player (East) passes. You are South and hold:

♠ 10 8 6 5 ♠ 7 ♣ Q 6 4 2 ♣ Q 6 3

What call do you make?
Answer: Correct response is one spade, the cheapest possible bid. Such a one-over-one response does not have to guarantee even fair top strength. It may logically be made on as poor a hand as South's. A no trump response, to show artificially that South is weak, has nothing to recommend it. (If you responded with one no trump take 22 points demerit. If you passed take 16 points demerit. For any other call take 35 points demerit.)

TODAY'S QUESTION
Three no trump without mentioning a suit and without a bid from your self or partner. You become the opening leader. You hold:

♠ Q 5 4 ♠ 10 9 ♣ 8 7 3 ♣ J 6 2

What card do you lead?
TODAY'S HAND
South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The old saying used to say: "Make everything pleasant for your husband at home. Give him the pleasures at home that he seeks abroad," but all such advice is just bunkum. Undoubtedly, a man who has a nice, pleasant, cheerful home, with a jolly little wife who sets a good table, is less likely to leave his home fireside than one who has a nagging wife. But the husband who has an itching foot will go, no matter what his home environment, and no wife at all will stop him.

In your particular case I should say that the only thing to do would be to break up the home in which he will not stay and go to live in some pleasant boarding house or hotel, where you will at least have protection and good company, so that you will not have lonely evenings in which to brood over your wrongs.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Of course I'm convinced that the woman who keeps herself nicely groomed gets more out of life than her indifferent sister. In fact I feel that girls cannot start too young to care for their looks, acquire good habits, and keep themselves up generally. Those are the words of Marjorie Hillis, that successful author who writes gay and pointed narratives about the women of our day.

Her profound understanding of feminine psychology has been acquired through her own formative career years — sixteen of which were spent on the staff of a leading fashion magazine. Now she is madly engaged in filling lecture engagements throughout the country and writing articles and books for women and about them!

In Miss Hillis' opinion, "it is the determination to keep one's self looking well groomed and keeping currently informed about things and people, which gets a woman places." She feels "it is dated to think beauty is outside. Most of beauty comes from inside. Don't just glide the life into give it something to feed on. Women simply must keep their health and their figures and their sense of balance, if they wish to be truly beautiful and successful."

"And environment means a great deal, too. I've written so much about the importance of attractive bed jackets and negligees, well stocked dressing tables, and beautiful bedrooms, that I am kind of unmercifully! But it is true, that those things give a woman a most reassuring feeling of well being, and as a result she carries a more colorful personality to her job, and a more relaxed, enjoyable personality to her friends."

"Take for instance Claudia and Eileen in my last book, 'Work Ends at Nightfall.' They were successful because they were meticulous — or might I say, because they lived meticulously. Kate and Irene didn't bother, and just let themselves go as a consequence they got only the second best from life instead of the best, which they desired."

"It is very apparent that if a woman or girl is seriously interested in a career she must be conscious of the impression she makes on others at first glance, and the dent she makes during the first conversation!"

There were more questions I wanted to ask Miss Hillis about gracious living and beauty, but she was hurriedly packing (exquisitely) for a trip to the coast where she was booked to answer similar questions for the women of California.

Poise begins with good posture. My leaflet, "How to Keep Young Looking" tells how you can take off years from your appearance. Send a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope to this paper.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

Here is an interesting woman who hears voices at 8 o'clock in the morning, but she isn't losing her mind. See if you can diagnose her problem, and then paste this in your scrapbook beside Maurice's dream of lovely young women.

CASE L-150: Minnie L., aged 41, has been married for 20 years. "My husband is getting so disgusted with me," she nervously confessed as she toyed with her handkerchief.

"I cannot stay in the house alone, especially in the morning. When he leaves at 8 o'clock, I always have to go to the store with him and hang around for an hour or so."

"If I try to stay home, as he insists, I think I hear men's voices in the hall, and imagine I hear somebody knocking on the door. Then I get so panicky I simply cannot remain another minute in the house."

"Dr. Crane, why am I so afraid of being home in the morning alone, or even when my 12-year-old daughter is with me? I feel as if I simply must be near my husband at that time."

DIAGNOSIS:
Minnie's problem is somewhat related to Maurice's dreaming of pretty women, as mentioned in yesterday's case record.

Minnie never hears the voices of women. It is always a man who is knocking or talking to her. But why?

Well, why is the old maid so worried lest there be a man under her bed? Because her primitive nature calls for romance, even though her moral training makes her profess great fear and terror at the thought of finding the man under the bed.

So it is with Minnie. She is panicky about her age. She fears she is too old to be physically attractive to men. With this fear comes a very normal wish, even though morally taboo, that she might have men clamoring for dates with her.

When She Heard Voices
Minnie's case doesn't vary greatly from thousands I have had. And she finally saw her problem after two hours of discussion in which I sat and listened with only an occasionally deft question to keep her from wandering too far from the crux of her dilemma.

As a matter of fact, she not only confessed that she felt hungry for more masculine attention, but that her brother-in-law had actually called on her morning two years previously and tried to have an affair with her.

Being a very conscientious and morally trained woman, she firmly resisted his advances, and ordered him never to come back again.

But each morning she is afraid she hears voices or knocking at the door. The past six months her fears have been increased. Why?

Because she is having the usual menopausal panic. She craves men as a tonic to her wounded sex vanity. And the knocking on the door is just as much a wishful-fantasy mechanism as Maurice's dreams about the lovely young women who come into his bedroom.

Worries Come From Conscience
Her worries really are based on conscience, just as a nightmare is an indication of a conflict between conscience and primitive nature.

She craves more love and affection; yet she doesn't want it. The knocking at the door shows her unsatisfied sex desire. Her insistence on staying close to her husband is a moral compensation by which she tries to avoid acting into the way of temptation.

What's to be done? I quickly dispelled the old delusion that women are not sexually attractive to men after 45 by telling her of patients who are over 70 years of age yet still have satisfactory sexual relations.

Then I talked with her husband and gave him my bulletin on SEX PROBLEMS IN MARRIAGE which I've offered you readers heretofore.

dot 4889

Behold a bright, young, easy-to-make frock designed with an eye to the future—since Pattern 4889 is everything a "four to twelve" could desire as a Thanksgiving and Christmas-party frock (as well as for immediate wear at school). At the adorable bolero-effect line, metal buttons are a decidedly fetching note—while the eight-gore, skirt "swings" just like grown-ups' allowing plenty of room for active young legs. Instead of choosing the Peter Pan collar, you might have a square neck that's equally sweet—and instead of doing the frock in one bright print or flannel, you might let the top contrast.

A party-going dress will be attractive with puff-sleeves, then for an everyday frock, the long sleeves are oh-so-cozy!

Pattern 4889 is available in children's sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12. Size 6 takes 2 yards 36 inch fabric.

Don't Marry The Man

By Jeanne Bowman

THE CHARACTERS
Kathleen Gregory: peppery red-haired member of the Gregory clan, goes West incognito to secure a right-of-way for The Golden Girl mine.

Donald MacDonald: young owner of The Stubbins Boy mine, has refused the right-of-way, hates the Gregorys.

Bridget: Kathleen's companion.

Yesterday: Kit-Smyth, superintendent, takes Kathleen into the Gregory mine where she meets Old Balmey.

Chapter 10
OLD BALMEY

Kit-Smyth's hand was on Balmey's arm. Old muckers had rushed to the old man's side, but only Kathleen smiled.

In the yellow circle of light she could see the man's face, his expression of patient hope, the glow of joy gradually fading, a look of bewilderment taking its place.

BEDROOM OR DINING-ROOM?

Dear Mrs. Post: We are looking for our first apartment and I'm having a good deal of trouble deciding what to consider as most important in a place that has few rooms. Do you think it more important to have a dining-room than a bedroom? The apartment we've taken has an especially large and attractive living-room and twin beds that shut out of sight in a wall space behind double doors. The agent says that most of the people in the building who are only two-in-family use the extra room for a dining room.

Answer: The answer to this depends upon the room that you personally use most. Do you linger long at table, or do you like to stay late in bed? To those who serve short meals and hate to sit long at table, the dining-room is an extra and not necessary room. On the other hand, many people—especially those who all their lives lived in a whole house in the country—have a cramped imprisoned feeling when they move into a one or two-room city apartment, which some of them say becomes very oppressive. It seems to me that to sleep in the living-room would be the more restricting feeling of the two. Therefore, if it were my own choice, I should decidedly prefer to have the second room a bedroom and set my table in the living-room.

Who Kisses the Bride?
Dear Mrs. Post: Just who may, according to accepted practices, kiss the bride at her wedding reception? I mean, any guest "take this liberty on her wedding day, or just certain ones?"

Answer: Any guest at a small reception, yes. But at a large general reception at which acquaintances as well as friends are present, she would be kissed by those who know her very well; her neighbors and of course all her intimate friends, both men as well as girls; also his relatives, and his very intimate friends who have known her.

Flowers to a Man?
Dear Mrs. Post: Are flowers an inappropriate birthday remembrance to send a man? If not, on what other occasions is it also suitable to send flowers to a man?

Answer: Flowers are always proper to send to a man when he is ill. They might also be sent to a man who is having a nose-bleeding. If he is really a flower lover there is no reason why flowers or, perhaps more suitably, a flowering plant, should not be sent to him on his birthday or a particular anniversary. In other words, it is unusual to send a man flowers but not unheard of by any means.

Kathleen accepted for herself and for Bridget. They talked of other things, his garden, the dog, the mine, then when the others reappeared he took Kathleen's hand again.

"I don't talk overmuch, lass," he said, softly and returning to the case, Kathleen wondered what he meant.

Kit-Smyth discussed Balmey, all of the way to his quarters, an im-

Trust Firm Asks Cancellation of $144,000 Claim

Judge Gehrz, Milwaukee, Hears Case in Cir- cuit Court

An action brought by the First Trust company, Appleton, to have a claim for $140,000 against it cancelled opened in circuit court here before Judge Gustave G. Gehrz, Milwaukee, yesterday afternoon.

The trust company asks dismissal of the claim filed against it by John Morgan, H. W. Tuttrup, George Baldwin, James B. Wagg and Ralph J. Watts as individuals and as members of the Bondholders Protective committee of Streator Clay Manufacturing company, Streator, Ill., and as representatives of bondholders of that company.

The action is a result of use of $189,773.13 paid the Appleton firm in insurance after a fire which destroyed some of the buildings of the Streator Clay company. The trust company claims it spent part of the money to rebuild the destroyed buildings and that the remainder was disbursed under a court judgment. The defendants on a counterclaim ask for an accounting of the funds which they charge were mishandled.

Photo Collection, Letters, Clippings Fill 30 Scrapbooks

When Miss Anna Vanden Wymelenberg, Combined Locks, indulges in the popular pastime of recalling days gone by, she has not only her memory to rely on. For a number of years she has been collecting photographs, postcards, fair premium ribbons, letters and newspaper clippings of her family and friends.

In her collection are from 25 to 30 scrap books, four of them snapshot albums with pictures dating back as far as 1909, most of them taken and finished by her. There are also three postcard albums, one made up of cards from the Netherlands, one book of World war letters, another of quilt block patterns and music, stamp and party books. Recipes gathered from magazines and newspapers are collected in four volumes and souvenirs in three.

Miss Vanden Wymelenberg keeps house for her cousin, the Rev. J. De Wild, Combined Locks, and is vice president of the C. Y. O. there.

Young GOP Elects Jesse President

County Group Names Of- ficers at Meeting Monday Night

Franklin C. Jesse, Appleton, was named chairman of the Outagamie county Young Republican organization at a dinner meeting at the Copper Kettle Monday evening. More than 70 members from various points in the county heard Harland Kelly, Sheboygan, deliver the principal address.

Referring to the efforts of a state political group to "save the state from the so-called reactionaries," Kelly declared "they've been saving us every two years for the last 40 years—and we haven't been saved yet."

Other officers named were Adrian Gerrits, vice chairman; Miss Ann Peters, women's vice-chairwoman; David Tretin, secretary, and Roland Kuckuck, treasurer.

Dr. C. L. Kolb, chairman of the Outagamie county Republican organization, also addressed the meeting, as did Roy Sengstock, Marinette, chairman of the Eighth district Young Republicans. Sengstock described activities of Young Republican groups in other counties in the district.

DEATHS

MRS. SARAH JANE LEONARD

Mrs. Sarah Jane Leonard, 86, died early yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Chris Scheldt, 1847 Liberty street, Marinette, from shock suffered when she broke her wrist several days before.

Born in Wyocena, Wis., she lived the last three years at Marinette, going there from Benton Harbor, Mich.

Survivors are the husband, Lawrence Leonard, one son, Harry, both of Appleton; three daughters, Mrs. W. A. Godfrey, Benton Harbor, Mich.; Evelyn, Leonard, Milwaukee; two sisters, Mrs. C. H. Ender, Appleton, and Mrs. Helen Hough, Milwaukee; three grand-children and one great grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 Wednesday morning at the McLain Funeral home in Marinette and burial at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at Riverside cemetery in Appleton.

HOPKINS FUNERAL

Funeral services for Markhus Hopkins, 65, Dale, who died from injuries when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver, were held yesterday afternoon at Wichmann Funeral home and at the Reformed church in Dale with the Rev. V. Grosshuesch in charge. Burial was in Pine Grove cemetery at Dale.

Bearers were John Much, R. R. Griswold, Art Kaufman, Frank Grossman, James Running, and Aaron Prentice.

SCHMITZ FUNERAL

The funeral of Nicholas Schmitz, 83, 709 W. Eighth street, was held this morning at Wichmann Funeral home with services at St. Joseph's church. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

than a quarter of the normal population.

Meanwhile, the Japanese occupied Tsungfo, 33 miles north of Canton.

The Dollar liner, President Coolidge sailed today for Kobe, Japan, without a $4,000,000 cargo of silver intended for the United States. Japanese officials had refused to clear the American ship until the cargo was unloaded. They apparently considered the treasure the property of the Japanese-sponsored Shanghai government. Diplomatic negotiations were expected to determine its ownership. The silver was returned to the Shanghai office of the Chase National bank.

Fires Under Control

(Small sporadic explosions continued to be heard in Canton, although huge fires that killed hundreds of Chinese and caused millions of dollars' damage appeared to be under control this afternoon. Canton was a looted, burned-out shell. Incendiarism continued. Police arrested five Chinese who were setting a fire near the International Settlement. Japanese patrols shot several incendiaries.)

BLAME BRITISH

Tokio.—(4)—Japanese imperial headquarters indicated today the British gunboat Sandpiper, damaged by Japanese bombs at Changsha yesterday, had failed to give her correct location.

"According to a British communication received just prior to departure of Japanese planes, the Sandpiper was moored about 500 meters (1,640 feet) downstream from the Hankow custom house instead of at Changsha," said a communique.

Changsha is 200 miles southwest of Hankow.

The communique said shell fragments presumably hit the Sandpiper accidentally.

London.—(4)—An official source said today that Japan's vice minister for foreign affairs had expressed "deep regret" for the bombing of the British river gunboat Sandpiper by Japanese warplanes.

The Japanese regrets were conveyed to Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, British ambassador at Tokio. The vice minister promised a full inquiry into the affair.

Tokio.—(4)—Japan's capital tonight received the announcement of the fall of Hankow with an utter lack of excitement.

Japanese leaders indicated that a huge lantern parade would be a grandized tomorrow to celebrate the victory, but there was no evidence the celebration would be spontaneous.

Boxing Class for Boys Opens in Y.M.C.A. Gym

The boxing class for boys from 15 to 18 years of age, first ever offered under the Y. M. C. A. program, opened last evening. Herb Winkler is the instructor.

The class will meet twice weekly, on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Ray Risch, physical education director, pointed out today that previous experience is not necessary for registration in the class.

"Instruction starts with the basic principles of boxing and actual sparring will not start for a couple months," Risch said this morning.

Hear Final Arguments In Auto Damage Suit

Closing arguments were being heard this morning in a $10,000 damage action brought by John Van Eperen, Kimberly, against Edward Bongers, Kaukauna, and the Milwaukee Automobile Insurance company in municipal court of Judge Thomas H. Ryan.

The suit, which opened yesterday, is a result of an accident involving cars driven by Van Eperen and Bongers June 3 on County Trunk N near Kimberly. Van Eperen was injured in the crash.

Mable Loose Is Named Cheerleader at School

Mable Loose has been chosen as an Appleton High school cheerleader from a group of 19 aspirants. It was announced today. The selection was made by a committee headed by Edgar Hagene, social science instructor.

GIVES COMBINATION

Antio, Wis.—(4)—A. L. Komers, hardware merchant whose store has been looted and the safe blown open twice recently, inserted an advertisement in the local daily newspaper (the Journal) yesterday under the heading "Safe Blowers Attention!" Giving the combination of the safe lock "for your information and convenience."

IN SHIOCTON HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

Juvenile leads are taken by Rosan Herminath, left, and Barbara Jess Kueher, in "Adventures of Tom Sawyer" to be given as an all-school play by Shiocton High school students at the school gymnasium Wednesday evening. Miss Herminath plays Becky Thatcher and Miss Kueher takes the role of Amy Lawrence opposite David Brooker as Tom Sawyer.

Modern Educational System Fails to Develop Freedom of Thought, Hutchins Declares are seeking. We want minds that are free because they understand the order of goods and can achieve them in their order. The proper task of education is the production of such minds. . . .

"When we say we want free minds, we mean that we want minds able to operate well. The glory and the weakness of the human mind is that it is not determinate to certain things. It may range at will over the good and the bad. To be free to operate well, therefore the mind requires habits that fix it on the good. The free mind is first of all the disciplined mind. The first step in education is to give the mind good habits.

"The next step in the education of free minds is the understanding of what is good. The mind cannot be free if it is a slave to what is bad. . . .

"The great problem of our time is moral, intellectual and spiritual. With a superfluity of goods we are sinking into poverty. With a multitude of gadgets we are no happier than we were before. With a declining death rate we have yet to discover what we should do with our lives. With a hatred of war we are heading inevitably toward it. With a love of liberty, we see much of the world in chains.

"How can these things be? They can because we have directed our lives and our education to means instead of ends. We have been concerned with the transitory and superficial instead of the enduring and basic problems of life and of society."

Mrs. Roosevelt, in her address, said: "If we are going to keep ourselves ready to face the world of tomorrow, we must listen to young people. We will not always agree with them and they will not always be right, but the majority among them will help us to approach new ideas with an inquiring mind."

Predict Cloudy, Cooler Weather

Sun Boosts Mercury to 58 Degrees in Appleton At Noon Today

The sun went to work early this morning in Appleton and vicinity and boosted the mercury in the thermometer on the roof of the Post-Crescent building to 58 degrees at noon today. The sun's stay is expected to be short-lived, however, for considerable cloudiness and cooler temperatures are predicted Wednesday. Increasing cloudiness with warmer temperatures is forecast for tonight.

Highest and lowest temperatures during the 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning were 51 degrees at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 34 degrees at 7 o'clock this morning, according to records at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

Maximum and minimum temperatures in the nation yesterday were at Phoenix with 90 degrees and Wausau and Modena with 28 degrees, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

College Camera Club Will Convene Tonight

The newly organized Camera club at Lawrence college will meet for the second time this year tonight in Main hall. Roger Sherman, instructor in art, will be in charge of the meeting.

PIONEER FIREMAN DIES

Sheboygan.—(4)—Herman Gruebner, 83, who was the first paid captain of the hook and ladder fire company here, died at his home yesterday after a long illness.

Be A Safe Driver

Members of the county highway committee yesterday at the courthouse discussed the budget for next year. Bills of $123.19 and rights-of-way of $550 were allowed.

Jury Views Body Of Crash Victim

Investigation of Fatal Accident Is De- layed

Investigation of the traffic accident on Highway 55 three miles north of Freedom Sunday in which two persons were fatally hurt was held up today pending recovery of Junior Skenadore, route 2, West De Pere, an occupant of one of the machines involved. He was severely bruised in the crash.

Raymond P. Dohr, district attorney, and a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon went to De Pere where they viewed the body of one of the crash victims, Gustave Jorgenson, 20, route 1, Seymour. Skenadore and Jorgenson were riding in the latter's car and it still is to be determined which was driving.

Mrs. Joseph Jirkovic, 39, Kaukauna, was the other victim of the accident. She was riding with her husband and three other persons in her husband's machine when the two cars collided at a county trunk intersection. Jirkovic's daughter, Phyllis, 4, suffered a fractured skull and her condition was reported improved at a Green Bay hospital.

Funeral services for Jorgenson will be held at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home and 2 o'clock at the Glenmore Lutheran church with burial in the parish cemetery.

Waupaca County Giant Becomes Beer Salesman

After many years in circus and vaudeville, Cliff Thompson, one of the world's tallest men, has joined the sales organization of the Blatz Brewing company at Milwaukee.

Thompson, a native of the village of Scandinavia in Waupaca county, is 8 feet, 7 inches tall and weighs 460 pounds. His parents and two sisters are of average height. Cliff was graduated from Stevens Point Teachers college, majoring in science and mathematics, but turned to the show business instead of teaching. He did not stop growing until he was 27 years old. He is now 33.

Two Fined for Driving Cars Without Licenses

Anthony Yack, route 2, Pulaski, pleaded guilty of driving a car without a license and was fined $5 and costs by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday afternoon. He was arrested Oct. 15.

Robert Louis Martin, Fond du Lac, pleaded guilty to a similar charge and was given a similar fine. He was arrested by city police following an accident in which Martin's machine struck a power pole over the weekend.

Gets Permit to Build New Porch on Residence

Enil Buss, 714 E. Hancock street, was issued a permit by the city building inspector today to build a new porch on his home. The estimated cost is $700.

It Is Said--

That authorities at Roosevelt Junior High school are doing everything in their power to create happy, sunny personalities among pupils of the school. A large sign in the main corridor reminds pupils to "Smile At the Next Three People You Meet."

That some members of the county highway committee, which has begun a study of snow removal costs for next winter, had a taste of real snow removal over the weekend. On a trip north of Tomahawk the car in which they were riding got stuck in snow and they had to shovel the machine out several times.

That mice like Wisconsin cheese well enough to crack open a safe to get it.

The other day Frank Bachmann, stockman in the city street department, noticed that several of the rodents had set up winter quarters in his office. The next day he brought a chunk of cheese, baiting six mouse traps. There was cheese left over, so he placed it in the office safe.

When Frank returned to work the next morning, he found no mice in any of the traps. But the cheese was gone from the safe.

County Teachers Will Attend State Meeting

Most rural and state graded schools in Outagamie county will close Thursday and Friday, Nov. 3 and 4, when teachers go to Milwaukee to attend the annual state teachers convention Nov. 3, 4 and 5. Classes will continue as usual in those schools where the teacher does not attend the Milwaukee meeting, according to Henry J. Van Straten, county superintendent.

Watchmakers Guild to Convene This Evening

The Appleton Watchmakers guild will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Conway hotel. Technical slides will be shown. About 15 are expected to attend.

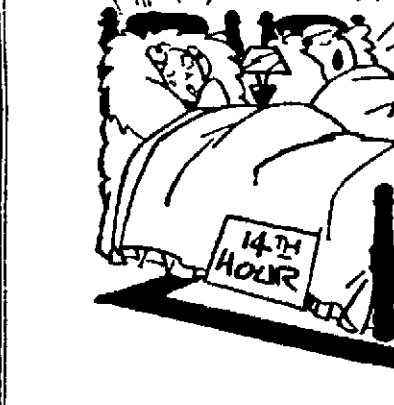

SEIZE BURGLARY SUSPECT

Madison.—(4)—Madison police announced today the arrest of Bernard Benson, 25, who the authorities said would be taken to Lancaster for prosecution on charges he was implicated in burglaries at the Viola and Bosobel railroad stations. Benson, sought since March, was employed here.

Quill and Scroll Will Hold Initiation Today

The Quill and Scroll society of Appleton High school will initiate new members at a meeting at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the school. Students from the Talisman and Clarion staffs who attended the student editors conference at Madison will report on speeches they heard.

Company Combats 'Slow-Down' With Lay Off Program

Postal Telegraph Mes- sengers Center of Wage- Hour Dispute

New York.—(4)—The Postal Telegraph company continued today its plan to lay off 1,000 messengers as the American Communications association (CIO) pressed its orders for a "slow down" of work in an effort to obtain a 44-hour week from the company under the new wage-and-hour act.

C. B. Allsopp, vice president in charge of commercial departments of Postal, announced the lay-off last night, saying the company found it necessary to "protect its financial position."

Recently the company petitioned Elmer F. Andrews, wage-hour administrator, for permission to pay its messengers less than the 25-cent-an-hour minimum required under the act. Allsopp said the lay-off decision was reached without consultation with the Western Union Telegraph company, which also had asked exemption.

Leaders of the American Communications association claimed its "slow down" order had retarded the handling of messages from 50 to 60 per cent. The company, it was said, maintains a work week of slightly more than 46 hours.

The labor leaders claimed 13,000 of the company's 17,000 employees were involved in the "slow down."

Allsopp said his company was "forced" into the lay-off action as "the only course we could follow." The lay-off began last night, he said, and will be completed in two or three days. The company employs about 6,500 messengers, of whom about 1,000 are in New York.

Parish Functions
Head Calendar of Church Activities

Men's Night, 'Georgia
Peach' Party, Supper
Among Events

Appleton churches are concerned this week with functions within their own parishes. A men's night program sponsored by one of the women's missionary societies, a "Georgia peach" party by another, a sauerkraut supper to be given by a men's organization and several Halloween parties are among the events scheduled for the next few days.

John Trautmann, who recently returned from the east where he attended the general council of the Evangelical church and the national board of missions meeting as lay delegate, will give a report on their sessions at the men's night program sponsored by Women's Missionary society of Emmanuel Evangelical church this evening at the church. Two playlets will be given and there will be special music. Last Sunday morning the Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor, preached on "The Revelation of John." Next Sunday Dr. C. C. Talbot, superintendent of the China mission, will speak at 7:30 in the evening at the church.

The "Georgia peach" party to be given by Women's Missionary society of Memorial Presbyterian church this evening at the church will carry out the peach theme throughout. The highlight of the program will be a talk by Mrs. W. R. Courtenay, Neenah, a native of Georgia, on "The Southern Mountaineers."

Events For Young People

This week will be a busy one at First Baptist church for the older group of young people will have a social and business meeting at the home of the Rev. R. H. Spangler, 926 W. Winnebago street, this evening, another group of young people will have a Halloween party Wednesday night at the church, and family church night will be observed Thursday night. A worship service will be held Thursday night after which the assembly will divide into three groups with Walter Elder in charge of the men, Mrs. Carl Eberhart of the women and Mr. Spangler of the young people. A joint social hour will follow. Last Sunday the Rev. Mr. Spangler preached on "A Portrait of the Apostle Peter."

An old-fashioned hayride was held by M. S. M. club of First Methodist church last night. Sunday morning Dr. Harry C. Culver, pastor, preached on "Which Way is Forward?" A loyalty friendship supper will be held at 6:30 Thursday night at the church, followed by a social hour.

The Rev. Theodore Marth, pastor of Zion Lutheran church who has been on vacation for several weeks, is expected to return home this week. He will conduct services in his own church next Sunday.

Talks At Convocations

The Rev. William J. Spicer, rector of All Saints Episcopal church, is speaking at three convocations this week, today at Plymouth, Wednesday at Big Sausage and Thursday at Waupaca. His subject is "The Church's Program, Diocesan and National."

Young People's society of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church will entertain the Black Creek league at a Halloween party Wednesday night at the church. Last Sunday morning the Rev. A. Guenther, pastor, preached on "A Consecrated Life." Lutheran League of Trinity English Lutheran church will hold a social meeting tonight at the William Marx home on E. North street. Thursday evening the Brotherhood will sponsor a sauerkraut supper at the church. The Rev. D. E. Bosserman, pastor, spoke Sunday on "The Man Under the Shadow."

The A. B. Crabb evangelistic meetings are continuing nightly this week at the Gospel temple. They will close Sunday. The Rev. F. E. Ziesemer, pastor of Mt. Olive Lutheran church, spoke at a young people's service Sunday night at Sheboygan. In the morning he preached at his own church on "The Unlimited Power of the Christian Faith."

"What Men Live By"

"What Men Live By: Worship" was the subject of a sermon given by Dr. John B. Hanna, pastor of First Congregational church, Sunday morning. At First English Lutheran church the Rev. E. C. Reuter preached on "Make the Most of Life," and at St. Paul Lutheran church the Rev. T. J. Sauer, honorary pastor, spoke on "Sitting at God's table."

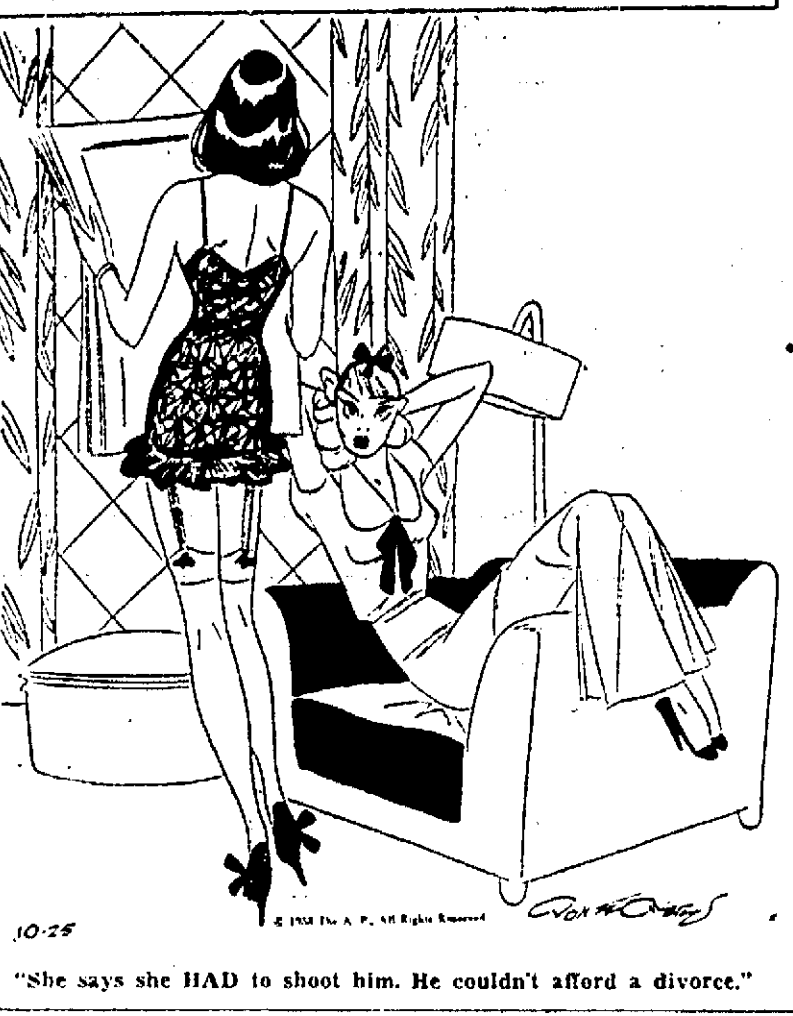

"Probation After Death" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientists. The following passage was read from "Science and Health with Keys to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life is the eternal and ultimate of taken, not attainable through death, but gained by walking in the pathway of truth both before and after that which is called death. For right reasoning there should be but one fact before the thought, namely, spiritual existence. In reality there is no other existence, since life cannot be limited to its unlikeliness, mortality."

City Relief Costs to Increase This Month

Appleton relief costs for October will show an increase over last month, but it will be a slight one, according to F. A. W. Hammond, city relief director. There were 135 cases on relief last month while the total expense was $3,526.72.

Don't Marry The Man

By Jeanne Bowman

posing bungalow on a low hill beyond the mine.
"I wish I could get rid of that man," he fumed. "He gets worse every day. Take the way he acted towards you, Miss Riley."
"He acted the part of a gentleman," snapped Kathleen. "As far as his calling me, whatever it was, I once dashed through a store and kissed a strange woman thinking she was my mother."
"Oh, I know but... well, it's his religion. Not that he preaches it, but he insists upon living it. If anybody hands him a dirty deal, he blesses them. Now what can you do with a man like that? You can't keep on fighting him."
Bridget's laugh trilled out. "He has you there," she admitted. "Is that why you don't fire him?"

Moving In

"No, and he's getting too old to work. Old Angus brought him over from Scotland and when the boss died we found his will had taken care of Balmly from that time on. He could work as long as he wanted to. He could own his own property and if he wanted more he could have it. And when he wanted to, mind you, wanted to stop work, we were to keep on paying him full salary and pay for any hospital or doctor's care he'd need."

Kathleen's eyes were wide with hope. Balmly had not only been her grandfather's miner, he'd been his friend. Now she could learn all she wanted to know.
"Funny his taking you for Old Angus," mused Kit-Smyth as they drove up before his bungalow.
Both girls admired Kit-Smyth's home. It was roomy, a bit overfurnished, but comfortable in a mannish way.

The Scotch woman who presided over the domicile was dour and disapproving at his entertaining young ladies, until Kathleen removed her hat, then she beamed.
"You'll have plenty of attention from the Gregorays," Kit-Smyth told Kathleen, as the woman retired from the room. "They have a softness for red-haired people. Old Angus had hair like a carrot top when he was young."

"A carrot top," came icily from Kathleen. "Is green. But I'm glad someone likes I met that MacDonald person and he positively insulted me because of my hair."
The girls thought Kit-Smyth laughed unnecessarily loud and long. "The MacDonalds can't take it. They can do what they want to do all over their town but they haven't a mine like ours and that's what counts in the long run."

According to Kit-Smyth, answering a call from The Golden Girl, the Gregorays had consented to renting their house.

Wait, Mother—Ask Your Doctor First

Never Give Your Children Unknown "Bargain" Remedies To Take—Unless You Ask Your Doctor. Unknowingly You May Be Risking Their Health—Just To Save A Few Pennies

THE LIFE OF A CHILD is too precious for experiment. So—Ask your doctor before you give any remedy you don't know all about. And when giving the common children's remedy "Milk of Magnesia," always ask for "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

Because for three generations Phillips' has been favored by many physicians as a standard, reliable and proved preparation—marvelously gentle for youngsters. Many children like Phillips' in the newer form—tiny peppermint-flavored tablets that chew like candy. Each tablet contains the equivalent of one teaspoonful of the liquid Phillips' and a big box costs but 25¢ at your drug store.

A bottle of Phillips' Liquid Milk of Magnesia costs but 25¢. So—anyone can afford the genuine. Careful mothers ask for it by its full name "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

of anyone's ancestors run me out of a room I've chosen.
Joey departed for town with a list Bridget had made out for him. She had surveyed the kitchen, which was the half-cabin of the feud, opened a few doors and closed them quickly.
"And a cat, Joey, shop for a cat with a dozen kittens. There are mice in here as big as donkeys."
"Pack rats," Joey had informed her.
Kathleen wandered about the house on an inspection tour. She found framed lithographs of The Golden Girl in all its stages of development. There were two gaudily painted photographic enlargements in convex frames. One was her grandfather, no one but Old Angus could have grown a beard like that. She expected to hear a voice boom through at any moment.
She studied the second with swift interest. Was this young woman her grandmother? But she was beautiful—with the rich, languid beauty of the Latin race. And she reminded her of someone, especially the eyes with their passionate defiance.
Just as the living room had shown The Golden Girl in its various stages of development, the pictures in the master bedroom revealed photographs of her father, and of herself, from babyhood to the day of the old man's death.
Kathleen removed these immediately.
Suddenly she realized that this house was hers; her very own. The mine might be shared by other members of the clan, but this property belonging to the immediate descendants of the Angus Gregorays and she was the last of the line.

Medical Science Makes Gains
In Use of 'Spares' for Humans

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
New York—The business of supplying spare parts to human beings began to pick up when a Hagerstown, Maryland, surgeon, transferred a rabbit's cornea to the eye of a man.
This experiment was a daring-try—with all the odds against it. But it could not harm the man; and if successful it would be a true miracle, which science might learn to duplicate.
In numerous ways medical science is edging in on the barrier that so far has made spare parts only a dim hope. That boundary is the individuality of a human being. He is always just enough different from even his brother so that his tissues won't accept a new part.
There is one great exception, blood transfusion. Strictly speaking, this is spare parts—millions of red corpuscles, white ones and other tiny cells are used as spares.
Small Parts Graft Best
When the parts get small enough they apparently are better able to survive transplantation. Even with blood, the individual "specificity" is important—the right blood type must be used.
Th blind eye furnishes another example of possible success in spare parts, if small enough. Transplanting of corneas (the clear covering over the pupil) from one human to another has been going on for half a century.
Medical records say the operations have restored sight only temporarily. The spare cornea always died and became opaque.

new parts may live any place. A thyroid, for example, may flourish in a hip for a fairly good length of time.
Even in these cases the body attempts to absorb, and so rid itself of the new part.
Backbone Braced
The Mayo Clinic takes slices of a man's shin bone and transplants them to a weakened backbone. These new parts are laid alongside the vertebrae like bridge timbers. They grow and merge with the vertebrae to form a complete repair job. But these new bones are limited at present to very special kinds of backbone weakness.
In one realm, embryology, science has made brilliant advances with new parts. A leg, eye, arm, tail, skin and other organs can be borrowed from another embryo of the same species and grafted most anywhere with probabilities of permanence.
But this is useless for man, except as a proving ground for new facts, whose possible uses are utterly unknown.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Europe from 1918 to 1938 VII—THE KELLOGG-BRIAND TREATY

The United States did not join the League of Nations, but it did something else which seemed important for peace. In 1928 Secretary of State Kellogg offered the world a "peace pact," or treaty. The treaty had these main points:

1. We condemn war as a way to settle any quarrel between nations.
2. We declare we will never try to settle any quarrel, or dispute, in any way except a peaceful way.

Because the French statesman, Briand, helped bring forth the idea of the treaty, it often is called "the Kellogg-Briand treaty." It was signed in Paris by 15 nations.

Germany signed it. Japan signed it. Italy signed it. The United States signed it, and it later was approved by the United States Senate by a vote of 85 to one. Great Britain, Canada, Australia, France, Poland and India also signed. Many other nations followed, until 60 had given their word against war.

Some persons said, "The peace pact is good, but it does not go far enough. There is no promise in it to punish a nation which breaks its word."

The test came all too soon. In 1931, Japan invaded a part of China, the part called Manchuria. Japan did not declare war on China. It just went ahead and made war! Manchuria was conquered, and the Japanese set up a new government there. Manchuria was given a different name, "Manchukuo," pronounced "Mahn-cho-ko."

Where was the Kellogg-Briand treaty? It wasn't working!

In Geneva, Switzerland, the League of Nations was meeting. It had the power to do something to stop Japan's invasion. It could start a boycott to keep Japan from getting any goods by trade with nations in the league. It even had the power to send warships to the Pacific, and put a blockade around Japan.

Some wanted to send warships to the Pacific, and put a blockade around Japan.

Some wanted to halt Japan in that way, but there had to be a vote of all nations in the League, and not all would vote that way. Instead, a committee was named to study the trouble, and to make a report on the facts. By the time the committee was through, Japan had won power in Manchuria!

The ownership of Manchuria was not, in itself, very important to the world. It did not matter much whether Japan or China had power there. The thing which did matter was that Japan had made an attack on China, and had been allowed to go ahead. The question came, "Will some nation in Europe commit a deed of the same sort?" (For History section of your scrapbook.)

A leaflet called Famous Music Masters may be had by sending a 3-cent stamped, return envelope to me in care of this paper.

and upheld the principle that the states must not take land from each other, but turn that land over to Congress if they themselves were unable to settle it. Wilson, Dodd said, offered the same policies to the states that won the Great war.

Hits Tariff Policy

Lincoln felt that the southern states should be brought back into the union after the Civil war in such a way that they could be prosperous again. But Congress laid export tariffs on everything the south wanted to send out. There was an analogy also between that situation and Wilson's problems after the war, the lecturer went on.

Wilson, he said, wanted to treat the German people as human beings, not animals, and he wanted better trade relations. But a hostile senate increased every tariff and refused to enter the League of Nations. Every tariff act between 1920 and 1923 made economic relations more difficult, Dr. Dodd said, and the act of 1930 was the worst.

Shifting to the German scene in his review of the background of the current situation, the speaker told how the German people had tried for 100 years to establish a democratic system. He told how German settlers had helped fight for American independence, how Carl Schurz cooperated with Lincoln and how Germany's Constitution of Weimar was based on almost exactly the same principles as that of the United States government.

The United States, however, did nothing to support or save this German democracy, he charged. Instead it enacted trade barriers against her and did nothing to prevent France from taking her territory and demanding 35 billion dollars.

Arms Disappointment

When Germany joined the League of Nations, she asked that no nation be allowed to have more soldiers than she had. Every time the proposition came up, however, arms manufacturers had secret agents in Geneva, working on the representatives of 32 countries to persuade them not to enforce such a limitation. Dr. Dodd declared, Germany, with a government unable to pay back what it had borrowed and over six million unemployed, was so disappointed that it felt it had to violate the Versailles treaty, he explained.

It was under those circumstances that Adolf Hitler rose to power. He had no education higher than that of the grade schools. Dr. Dodd said, but he was sure of one thing—that the democracies of the world were against Germany and therefore they must be limited or destroyed. Influenced by a book that claimed Christianity was coming to an end, Hitler sponsored a new religion, the paganism of the early Aryan race.

Hitler came into power on Jan. 30, 1933, and Dr. Dodd went to Germany as United States ambassador in June, 1933, remaining there until his resignation in 1937. Shortly after the burned interior of the Reichstag had been reconstructed, he visited the building and found adorning the walls pictures of representatives of the countries of the world, showing them committing every conceivable crime. The exhibit also included, Dr. Dodd said, two life-sized paintings of Hitler and Mussolini, labeled "The Saviors of Modern Civilization."

The former ambassador went on to describe the persecution of the Pupils at McKinley School Appointed as Junior Patrolmen

Forest Junction — In promotion of a safety program in public schools of the county, Wallace Ott and Frank Zirbel, Jr., pupils of McKinley school, have been deputized by Sheriff G. B. Jensen and Ray Jensen, Calumet county highway commissioner, as schoolboy patrolmen. Selected for their dependability, they are to act as guard for younger pupils in going to and from school and remind them of traffic rules to be observed. Sam Browne belts, provided by the state highway commission, are worn by the boy patrolmen as badge of the position in which they are to serve. The project is being similarly carried out in other rural schools here.

Sign Applications for Crop Benefit Checks

Forest Junction—Farmers in this area have been signing their applications for payment in the 1938 agricultural conservation program, during the last few days. Town of Brillion farmers were signing the applications at the town hall here Friday. Farmers from lower town of Holland had been summoned to Greenleaf the same day and town of Woodville farmers were signing the applications at the town hall at St. John on Monday. Payments, it is estimated, will be made within three or four weeks.

Seventeen carloads of sugar beets had been loaded here by the opening of this week of the estimated 30 or more carloads which constitute the annual shipment of that crop from here to the Menominee Sugar company at Green Bay. Carload weights range from 45 to 60 tons. The crop is said to be exceptionally good, having apparently suffered no serious effects from September's floods, and production runs from about 15 to 20 tons per acre. Like last year, this year's crop is said to have a high sugar content.

Governor Favors Central Bank as Aid to Business

Blames Present Monetary System for Prolonged Depression

Neenah—With his voice husky and face showing signs of fatigue from numerous campaign speeches, Governor Philip F. LaFollette told a small audience at the S. A. Cook armory Monday afternoon that the government establishes a central, publicly owned and operated bank to keep money in circulation the nation wouldn't recover from the depression.

Pointing out that money and credit is in the same relation to a nation as blood is to the body, the gray-haired governor, who said he was making five or six speeches a day in order to canvass the state in a few weeks, blamed the monetary system for the prolonged depression.

"We have a wealth of resources in this country; in fact, we have one-half of the wealth of the world," LaFollette pointed out, "and the reason why there are 10 million men out of work today is not hard to find. We've got everything and can produce all we need to supply a high standard of living. But the trouble with us is we try to exchange what we have produced, such as a farmer when he sells his product, and then tries to buy manufacturers' products with the money he has received in the exchange."

Explaining that only one-third of the money in the country is being circulated, Governor LaFollette contended that a central bank would keep the control of the other two-thirds from large financial interests which are using it for speculation.

Score Reactionaries

The governor slashed at the reactionaries whom he said are spreading propaganda in the current election campaign about Progressive legislation and administration. "The reactionaries," he said, "are leaving the impression that the Progressive government is spending 25 million dollars more than under the last Republican government and all we are giving the impression that all this increase is being spent in Madison."

LaFollette admitted that there are a number of million dollars more spent than when the Republicans were in power, but they are being spent as the fulfillment of Progressive pledges. "The money coming into the state treasury is going back to the counties and cities for streets, schools and highways and state aid," he said. During one year when the Republicans were in power at Madison, he pointed out, Winnebago county received only $446,000 in state aid, while now the county has received $1,083,000.

"The Republicans are promising they will increase state expenditures and then reduce taxes," according to the governor. "Whose taxes will they reduce? The taxes on your homes and farms or the taxes on the few millionaires around Milwaukee?" he asked. "When the Republicans were in the state capitol from 1928 to 1931, all the taxes came off property and they reduced aid to cities and counties for schools and roads."

Explains Taxes

"When asked where they will save 15 million dollars a year in operating the state, the Republicans reply that they will economize at Madison," the governor contended. And then he used four quarters to illustrate how the tax dollar is spent in Wisconsin.

The first 25 cents, he pointed out, is used for highway aid, while the second is used for schools, old age and mothers pensions. The third quarter is a refund to local communities from taxes, such as liquor and income tax, and he pointed out, at that point that 60 per cent of the income remains in the home, 50 per cent in the city and 10 per cent in the country.

The governor divided the fourth quarter into four parts. Eleven cents is used for state educational institutions, such as the University of Wisconsin and normal schools. Of the 14 cents left, seven cents is for the state prison, reformatory and hospitals for the insane and feeble minded. The last seven cents is used to support the government, and that includes the courts of the state, national guards, conservation department and numerous other departments.

Discusses Pensions

Then the governor criticized the old age pension plank in the platform of the "hard shell reactionaries," and he pointed out that the legislation of the Progressive government is to "bring the last millionaires around Milwaukee," he said. "When the last millionaires around Milwaukee were in Madison, Winnebago county received $483,181 for old age pension, while this year the county received $67,083," LaFollette said. He added that he realized the amount being spent for old age pensions is not "what we'd like to see it."

"The reactionaries, who have been advocating the same policies for 40 years, this year have had their Hoover ideas," according to the governor. They have resuscitated the old "scarescrow" that Wisconsin is unfriendly to industry. The governor stated that this is false, contending that the state is friendly to industry.

He discussed the workmen's compensation act which was passed in 1911 and read from a Kimberly Clark corporation bulletin in which the Wisconsin and Niagara Falls, N. Y., situations were compared. The article con-

Wooden Ware Scouts Plan Halloween Party

Menasha—Plans for a Halloween party, to be held from 7 o'clock to 10:30 next Monday night at Nicolet school, were made at the meeting of Boy Scout troop No. 9, sponsored by the Menasha Wooden Ware, last night. The evening will be devoted to games and each patrol will put on a stunt.

The scouts will be permitted to bring their friends to the party. Each boy will bring his own sandwiches while chocolate milk and fruit will be supplied from the troop budget.

The opening ceremony at the Troop No. 9 meeting was in charge of the Honor patrol, of which James Eckrich is the patrol leader. The Honor patrol also put on a stunt.

James Flynn and Robert Tratz had charge of the game period. J. Wesley Olsen, scoutmaster, had charge of the tenderfoot instruction.

Issue 48 Permits For New Homes at Neenah This Year

Number of Houses Approaching Total Erected in 1937

Neenah—A permit granted this morning to the Durham Lumber company to build a new home and garage at a cost of $6,500 for Palmer McConnell on Park drive, boosted the number of permits for new homes to 48 so far this year, according to John Blenker, assistant city building inspector.

The McConnell dwelling will consist of eight rooms and two bathrooms. It will be two stories in height and will have a concrete foundation. The Colonial style structure will be frame with a brick veneer front. The building will be 36 by 25 feet.

A permit was granted Monday to C. E. Rafoth to build a home and garage at a cost of $6,500 on Third street. The structure will consist of six rooms and it will be 15 stories high. It will be built of brick veneer. The size of the dwelling will be 44 feet 10 inches by 44 feet.

52 Last Year

Blenker reported that the number of homes built so far this year is approaching the total number last year when 52 dwellings were erected.

The number of homes built during each month this year are: January none, February 1, March 2, April 6, May 9, June 5, July 3, August 10, September 7, and October 5.

The largest number of homes was built in 1931 when 54 were erected. The preceding year there were 39, while the number dropped to 15 in 1934. In 1933 there were 18 new dwellings and 23 in 1932. In 1931 there were 44.

Menasha Music Group Will Elect Delegates

Menasha—Delegates to the eleventh annual district music convention of the Wisconsin Federated Music clubs at Fond du Lac Thursday, will be elected during the business meeting of the Menasha Music Department of the Menasha Economics club this evening at the home of Mrs. Carl F. Zietlow, Bond street, Neenah.

The convention headquarters will be at Hotel Retlaw and registration will begin at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Mrs. C. E. Thompson, state president, will be guest speaker during the session. The topic for her talk will be "What the Federation Means to You." Mrs. Alvin Gillette who is state chairman of American music, will speak also. Election of officers will be principal business at the sessions.

Expect Decrease in Accidents This Month

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—With the month of October drawing to a close, the number of Winnebago county traffic accidents hovered near the 30 mark for the month, according to a report issued by Floyd L. Wright, Winnebago County Safety league official.

There were 30 accidents, 22 injuries and 39 cars damaged in the month to date, according to the report. The report shows a favorable decrease from that of a year ago. Forty-five accidents, three fatalities, twenty-seven injuries, and forty-four cars were damaged in the same period in 1937.

Last week, in the county, 11 accidents, 7 injuries and 12 cars damaged is the count on the safety league's chart.

cluded, the governor read, with "We prefer the Wisconsin idea."

The governor also mentioned the "15 a week being paid to professional 'whisperers' for spreading propaganda against the Progressives."

Introduces Candidates

The governor was introduced by Justice Gaylord L. Leehning. The governor said he could give only a brief talk because he had an earlier speech scheduled at Oshkosh in the evening. He introduced other candidates who are seeking election on the Progressive ticket.

Herbert G. Fritz, Oshkosh, blind candidate for the state senate, following the governor's address, talked on taxation and the reorganization bill. Adam F. Poll, Hartford, candidate for congress, advocated continuous work programs, public utilities and old age pension. Other candidates introduced were Willie J. Ruth, Neenah, candidate for clerk of courts, A. C. Warren, Neenah, candidate for the assembly, Second district, Martin A. Potratz, Neenah, candidate for coroner, and Harold L. Priebe, Oshkosh, candidate for assembly, First district.

Two Children are Hurt in Accidents

6-Year-Old Menasha Girl Suffers Fracture of Collar Bone

Menasha—Two Menasha youngsters were injured in accidents Monday afternoon, according to police reports. Joan Wolff, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wolff, 320 Broad street, suffered a broken collar bone when involved in a collision with an automobile driven by Howard Campbell, 407 E. Forest avenue, Neenah, at 5:30 Monday afternoon. The accident occurred at the intersection of Broad street as Campbell was driving on "T" road.

Campbell took the little girl to her home and it was first thought that she had received no injuries. Later she was taken to Theda Clark hospital by her mother where examination revealed a broken collar bone.

Joy Haug, daughter of Mrs. Violet Haug, 63 Mathewson street, received bruises on her face when she ran into a Remick Transfer company truck at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The truck, which was driven by Joe Maas, 840 Second street, was parked on Garfield avenue at the time of the accident. The youngster was taken to a local physician for treatment of her injuries by Mrs. Chick Remick.

Nov. 17 is the date which Miss Lucille Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Union street, has chosen for the date of her marriage to James Track, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Track, route 1. Parties have been held and Mrs. Track plans to entertain for Miss Smith sometime before the wedding.

Another wedding in November will be that of Miss Alvina Spearick, 912 Third street, Menasha, who will become the bride of Phillip O'Connell, Appleton, Thursday, Nov. 3.

Miss Camille O. Pankratz, 2283 Kaukauna street, Menasha, and George H. Voissem, 228 Kaukauna street, Menasha, have made application for a license to wed but no definite day for the wedding has been announced as yet.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Marckhoff, 628 Chestnut street, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Bernice, to William Cramer, Neenah. No date has been set for the wedding.

Sawyer Rolls 698 Series for Season Record at Neenah

Neenah—Gordon Sawyer cracked the setups for a season record in the Sleepy Hollow Bowling league last night at the Neenah alleys when he rolled high individual series of 698 on games of 248 206 and 244.

Bud Hanis rolled second high series with a score of 613. L. Harzger rolled a 603 triple and Loehning spilled an even 600.

Joe Kolner rolled high single game of 256, and Sawyer rolled second with 248.

Winning three straight games from the Tews Beer Depot, Edgewater Papers gained a game in the league lead, for the second place. Jung Beers won only two games from the Steekers. Straight victories also were scored by the Home Fuels and Matthews Barbers.

Muellers Tavern rolled high team game of 1,003, while Nash Lafayette spilled high series with 2-537. Matthews Barbers scored second high game with 962, and Home Fuels rolled 2,753 for second high series.

Two Children are Hurt in Accidents

6-Year-Old Menasha Girl Suffers Fracture of Collar Bone

Menasha—Two Menasha youngsters were injured in accidents Monday afternoon, according to police reports. Joan Wolff, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wolff, 320 Broad street, suffered a broken collar bone when involved in a collision with an automobile driven by Howard Campbell, 407 E. Forest avenue, Neenah, at 5:30 Monday afternoon. The accident occurred at the intersection of Broad street as Campbell was driving on "T" road.

Campbell took the little girl to her home and it was first thought that she had received no injuries. Later she was taken to Theda Clark hospital by her mother where examination revealed a broken collar bone.

Joy Haug, daughter of Mrs. Violet Haug, 63 Mathewson street, received bruises on her face when she ran into a Remick Transfer company truck at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The truck, which was driven by Joe Maas, 840 Second street, was parked on Garfield avenue at the time of the accident. The youngster was taken to a local physician for treatment of her injuries by Mrs. Chick Remick.

Twin City Deaths

WILHELM KOLLETSCHKE
Wilhelm Kolletschke, 77, 402 Tenth street, Neenah, died at 5:20 this morning after a long illness. Born in Germany in 1862, he was educated at a millinery at the Fox River Paper company in Appleton for 50 years.

Survivors are widow; one daughter, Mrs. George Baum, Fond du Lac; one son, Otto Kolletschke, Neenah; four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Bretschneider Funeral home with the Rev. A. W. Wittenborn of Neenah in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery. The body will be at the funeral home from Wednesday afternoon to the hour of services.

Jens F. Hanson

Neenah—Jens F. Hanson, 70, 419 Sherry street, janitor at the Kimberly-Clark corporation, died at midnight at his home.

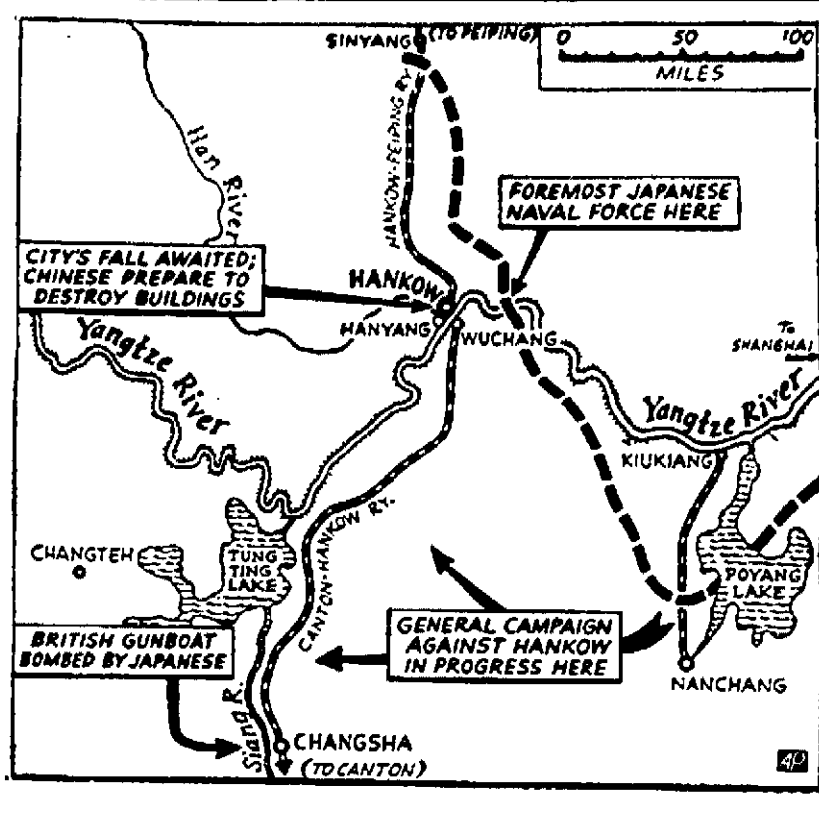

Mr. Hanson had been a resident of Neenah for 50 years, coming to the United States from Denmark. He was a member of the Danish Brotherhood and Our Saviour's Lutheran church.

Survivors are two stepchildren, Merril Valentine of Lago, Texas, and Mrs. Lucille Comerford, San Antonio, Tex.

The body is at the Sorensen Funeral home.

Cigaret Is Cause of Auto Fire at Oshkosh

Menasha—A lighted cigarette started a fire on the front cushion of the automobile owned by Howard Merrill, 222 Washington street, Monday noon while the car was parked at an Oshkosh parking lot, according to Oshkosh firemen. Damage was slight.

Rockets Will Play Lawrence Frosh in Non-League Clash

Proceeds of Booster Game Will Pay For Banquet

Neenah—Neenah High school's grid squad probably will face its toughest competition when the Rockets clash with the Lawrence Frosh eleven at 2 o'clock Saturday here in a non-conference game.

The contest will be a booster game, and the proceeds will be used to defray expenses of the annual all-athletic banquet Dec. 9 at the Valley Inn at which Harry Stuhldreher, athletic director and head football coach at Wisconsin university, and members of his squad will be guest speakers.

The Rockets will have one conference game following Saturday's tilt and that will be against the Bluejays at Menasha Friday night, Nov. 11. The Rockets originally were scheduled to play Clintonville Saturday, but the Truckers canceled the game when Neenah refused to play under the lights on Friday night.

The Rockets suffered no injuries as the result of their fracas with West De Pere here Saturday afternoon. Neenah managed to eke out a 6 to 0 victory over the Black Phantoms in a game in which the Christopherns didn't show up as well as expected. They did, however, hold a heavier team, mainly through vicious tackling.

The reverse in weather conditions may have had something to do with the poor display of offensive tactics shown by the Neenah eleven against the Phantoms, but on defense, however, they did better than in previous games.

Coach George Christoph kept his promise of last week, for there were some new names in the starting line-up. He is continuing to drive his gridders this week and a couple of scrimmages are scheduled.

26 Students Win Honor Roll Places

Neenah—Twenty-six Neenah High school students earned places on the honor roll for the first week period, it was announced today by Principal John H. Holzman. The freshmen led the other classes with 11 places, while the sophomores were second with seven. The juniors and seniors were tied with four each.

The freshmen are Roydon Ginn, Mrs. Robert Newcomb, Dorothy Metz, Audrey Olson, Daniel Kuehl, Polly Draheim, Doris Kuehnecker, Lavona Waters, Shirley Thompson, and Mildred Schmidli.

The sophomores are Lois Jerome, Marion Leehning, June Wolthus, Donald Peterson, Margaret Olin, Lillian Quandt and Edmund Arpin.

The juniors are Eunice Hopkins, Rose Dowling, Roy Matzdorf, and Evelyn Wichinski.

The seniors are Lois Kruska, Ruth Cannon, Ruth Johnson and Jeanne Lawson.

Committees are Named For Thespian Club Play

Neenah—Committees to be in charge of the production "Shirt Sleeves" a 3-act comedy in six scenes by Charles Quimby Burdette which will be presented by the Neenah High school Thespian club in the auditorium the latter part of November or the first of December, were named today by Miss Ruth Chaimson, director.

They are: Stage crew, Jack Williams, Louis Stacker, William Thompson, Douglas Nagel, Robert Newcomb; business managers, Jeanne Lawson, Louis Roth and Dorald Erdmann; advertising, Marjorie Werner, Paulin Gaertner, Marjorie Thomas, Laverne Walters, and Paul Opitz; properties, Mary Shoman, Mary Loeffingwell, Emily Kuehner, Katherine Grunski and Glady's Zick; furniture, Peggy Kuehner, Betty Donovan, Charles Bart and Eugene Christianson; costumes, June Gutter, Mary Tomblis, Barbara Hallen, Gertrude Krauske; hair, lighting, Harold Weitz; make-up, Gloria Williams.

Urges Neenah to Observe Navy Day

Mayor Kalfahs Issues Proclamation for Annual Event

Neenah—Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs today issued a proclamation urging the people of Neenah to observe Navy day, Thursday, Oct. 27, by displaying the American flag.

The proclamation is as follows: "Thursday, Oct. 27, the birth date of Theodore Roosevelt and the anniversary of the establishment of the American navy in 1775, has been designated as Navy day, and it is of vital importance that the United States have not only a navy of adequate strength to maintain our national policy of peace and security, but also a merchant marine commensurate with our national interests; and

"This day will be observed by the citizens of this country as a tribute to the past and present services which the navy of the United States has rendered to the nation during 163 years, and to the men who have responded in time of peril to the call to arms, and who stand ready at all times to uphold and defend the ideals and institutions of this great country.

"Now, therefore, I, Edwin A. Kalfahs, mayor of the city of Neenah, by virtue of the authority vested in me by law, do designate Thursday, Oct. 27, 1938, as "Navy day," and urge that our appreciation of the loyal services of the navy be shown by a display of the national colors, and that appropriate exercises be held to commemorate the occasion."

Menasha Youth Breaks Ankle in Football Tilt

Menasha—Joseph Michalkiewicz, 528 Sixth street, suffered a broken left ankle in a football game at Appleton Sunday when he was playing with a group of St. Mary High school graduates against an Appleton team. The Menasha group won the game by a 35 to 0 score.

Michalkiewicz, who starred at fullback with the Menasha High school last year, is a patient at Theda Clark hospital. He will be released this evening.

Menasha Personals

Ed Matthis, 305 Ahnaip street, Menasha, has been admitted to Theda Clark hospital for treatment. Mrs. Len Lux and Mrs. Frank Schneider, Clintonville, were Menasha visitors Monday.

Rotary to Honor Student Guests

Outstanding Pupils of 2 High Schools to Attend Sessions

Menasha—Outstanding students of Menasha High school and St. Mary High school are to be the guests of the Menasha Rotary club at its Wednesday noon luncheon meetings alternate months during the balance of the school year, following acceptance of a boys' work committee report given by F. B. Younger, superintendent of schools. The plan probably will go into effect at the Nov. 2 meeting of the club, according to H. O. Griffith, club president.

Only juniors and seniors will be eligible for the honor. The students will be selected by a committee consisting of the school superintendent, two faculty members and two students. Each student, at the conclusion of his attendance period, will introduce the succeeding student.

Students will be selected on the basis of good citizenship and compliance with the Rotary code of ethics, translated into high school language. Some of the main points of the code include:

To make the most of my opportunity to obtain an education so that I may better serve society.

To be clean in mind, body, speech and conduct; and to develop all sides of a four-square life by improving myself mentally, morally, physically and socially.

To develop and maintain a high standard of school loyalty, honor and conduct; and to respect the rights and property of others.

To accept responsibility, develop self-reliance and build a worthy character that is inspired by high ideals; to be honest, dependable, prompt and courteous.

Movie Land Its People and Products

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—Idol Chatter: No doubt about it, Carole Lombard's speech isn't as forceful as it used to be. Hope it doesn't jar your preconceived ideas, but Hollywood has more churches than nightclubs. Studies in longevity: Andy Devine—under contract to the same studio for twelve consecutive years isn't it amazing how many singing stars are ice-cream addicts? No love lost: Lee Tracy and Wallace Beery.

Wish I could look at the huge "Hollywoodland" sign without thinking of the disillusioned young actress who jumped from it to her death several years ago. News to me: it's Mrs. Adolphe Menjou who gives her husband's suits the final pre-purchase okay. If skill is the reward of effort, Mary Carlisle ought to be a golf champ one of these days. The "Grand old Man" of pictures: Jean Hersholt—he has just finished his 50th role.

What consternation on a Shirley Temple set when the "Little Princess" sneezes! Marjorie Weaver was elected "The Rose of Kappa Alpha" by the members of that frat when she visited Louisville University a few weeks ago. Those ice cubes the hero puts in his high-ball are made of celluloid. Economy notes: Mary Livingston has presented Jack Benny with a pacing rug for the study where he writes his gags.

Mrs. Withers reports the solution of two puzzles which had the family stumped. First, why was Mrs. Withers being flooded with sales literature by airplane manufacturers, and, second, why was Jane always broke by the middle of the week despite her $5 allowance? The Withers, it seems, have been paying a weekly visit to friends to Alhambra. The friends live near an airport and Jane has been entertaining the neighborhood

Edward G. Robinson—known to millions on screen and radio for his dynamic characterizations—is in real life a genial person who greatly prefers a pipe of tobacco to a gas pipe—and a good book to a belt on the jaw. His subtle blends of the weed are well known to devotees of the Lady Nicotine and he has the largest collection of pipes in Hollywood. Pipes of meerschaum, briar and clay, not forgetting the humble cornucopia—pipes of all shapes and sizes—the churchwarden—the St. Indian hubble-bubble or hooka—prehistoric contrivances with the bowl in the shape of a bird—African pipes mounted upon cows' horns—make a display well worth seeing. Mr. Robinson's next starring vehicle is "Brother Orchid."

Kids by taking them on plane trips at dollar a flight. The clue that finally broke the case was a personal letter from the airport manager to Mr. Withers asking if he didn't want to buy a certain bargain plane in view of his daughter's extreme interest in aviation. Mrs. Withers assure me that Jane had other interests during a thirty-minute family conference.

During a golf game some three years ago, Chick Chandler encountered a gopher snake on the course. He picked it up, gently deposited it in his golf bag and took it home—and there it still lives, feasting on the gophers which select Chick's yard for their abode. And this is the pay-off. Chick named the snake "Francis Lederer." It seems Lederer, who used to have a clause in his contract giving him the right to okay the cost of his pictures, once turned thumbs down on the casting director's suggestion that Chick should play a certain role. A unique revenge!

In the Twentieth Century-Fox cafe today, I was introduced to a new game—sponsored in Hollywood, I believe, by Loretta Young, who must lie awake at night trying to concoct new tantalizers. A list of words is read off and, as they are read, each player makes a mental note of their respective positions in the list. Then they read again, this time in garbled order.

Players try to give the number that corresponded to each word's position on the original list. Twenty words are enough to give the average person mental indigestion and thirty usually leave everyone floundering. But Richard Greene, the undisputed champ, has gone through 102 words without a mistake!

Some time ago, I told you how distressed Arthur Treacher was when the studio ordered his hair permanently waved for his role in "The Little Princess." That, he gloomily told me today, was merely a prelude. Three days after his beauty treatment, he was recalled for added scenes in another picture—and the permanent wave had to be smoothed out with highly scented bandoline. Then, as a topper, to put him in shape for the resumption of his work with Shirley, he was given a shampoo—and a finger wave.

Captain Saves Cat As Crew Abandons Blazing Schooner

New York—The story of a ship's cat saved by the captain, who dived into the sea from a blazing schooner, was told today when the rescued crew of the Pioneer arrived on the liner American Banker.

The Pioneer, a Gloucester schooner owned by Captain Hans G. Milton, rocked helplessly for three days 400 miles off Halifax after last month's hurricane, and finally foundered.

With the ship taking water, the crew soaked blankets in gasoline, ignited them and ran them to the head. The schooner caught fire and was burning briskly when the American Banker hove to on Oct. 2 and rescued the crew of five.

The last man off was Captain Milton, who saved the ship's sextant along with the cat.

Dorothy Lamour was complaining today about the sensationalism of the Hollywood press. When she had dinner with a man not her husband, she was reported on the verge of divorce—and when she dined publicly with her husband to correct the impression, one columnist wrote that she and Herbie Kay were seeing one another to discuss a property settlement! ELMER Horn smashed a scratch series of 685 on games of 200, 257 and 228 to lead Appleton Builders league bowlers during matches at Arcade alleys last night.

Master Plumbers took team honors with a 1,073 game and 2,836 series. Horn paced H. Schultz and Son to a 2-game win over Brett Schneider's with his high handicapped marks. C. Schroeder topped the losers with a 477 series.

E. Horn and Wm. Nehls and Son stayed in first place with a 2-game triumph over E. Kranzsch, Dec., as Bob Nehls rattled a 600 series on games of 228 and 213 and Bud Wegner cracked 587 with a 202 game. B. Kranzsch was high for the losing quint with a 201 game and 471 total.

R. Schmidt was "in the groove" with games of 222, 204 and 202 for a 628 series and H. Schulze banged a 207 but their team, Standard Manufacturing Co., lost two games to Ideal Coal and Supply. C. Schmidt led the winners with a 204 game and 517 series.

Win Odd Game
Heinrich Sheet Metal won the odd game from Appleton Neon Sign Co. as E. Hauer thumped a 504 total and C. Relien hit 209. E. Hantschel rolled 483 for the losing five.

Two games were credited to Gmeiner and Gearson in a match with A. Utschug and Sons as P. Gearson proved a 519 series. High for the losers was H. Stach with a 472 total.

Schabo and Son downed F. Hoepfner Sons in two games when Kenney pounded a 514 series. A. Hoepfner topped a 222 game and 542 series for the losing quintet.

Schuessler Weatherstrippers won two games from Master Plumbers as G. Hoffman totaled 547. D. Schadehammer a 568 series and 227 game. Lee Barlament smacked 204 and J. Burke rolled 202 for the losing squad.

Lieber Lumber collected two games from F. Plette and Sons with Holverson totaling 486. B. Ingherson had 503 for the losers.

Marquette Gridders Hear Report on Iowa

MILWAUKEE — Another busy Saturday afternoon, with Iowa State college as opponent, looked today for Marquette University's football squad as the players digested fresh man coach Marvin Bell's glowing report on the boys from Ames.

"They're big, they're fast, they're versatile—and they're tough," Bell reported after seeing the cyclones defeat Kansas last Saturday.

Freshmen gridders received Cyclone plays to be used in scrimmage later this week.

Two backfield changes loomed for the next game. Benny Owens, 130-pound Chicago sophomore, and La Verne "Eddie" Wagner of Dubuque, Ia., were being groomed for duty at the halfbacks.

Two Student Journalists are Barred From Hawkeye Drills

IOWA CITY, Iowa — (AP) — The question on the university of Iowa campus today revolved around who will write future football stories for the student daily, the Daily Iowan.

The sports editor, Dennis Sullivan, and John Mooney, editor of the paper, were barred from the football practice field last night by four football players linked by Sullivan's account of Iowa's game with Colgate Saturday which resulted in a 14 to 0 defeat.

Mooney declared that in the future a coed society editor would write about the football team's practice sessions but the society editor said "no."

Chaffin Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

WINNERS IN LAST WEEK'S football score guessing contest will be announced tomorrow. We couldn't go through the scores last evening seeing as we were in Green Bay watch East and Appleton. However, we are not waiting until tomorrow to give you next week-end's games; the list will be found below.

The boys up around Green Bay were commenting on Sample's decline as a football star. . . . They called their shots when they said he'd never be an all-conference selection this year.

Fond du Lac says that Appleton gridders were the roughest group they met this season. . . . But after watching the Terrors get carried off the field against West and East, it would appear the Terrors will transfer their doubtful honor to someone else.

Did you notice that Em Mortell tossed a pass for the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday that resulted in a touchdown. . . . And that Johnny Dutcher was in a news reel of a football game at a local theater this week and was mentioned by the announcer.

Roy Scherer, who played third base for Manitowoc last season in the State league, probably won't be with the team next year. . . . He has been named a Manitowoc fireman. . . .

Have you noticed how the National Professional Football league has gone for sports scribes as officials? . . . It's tough on some of the other guys. . . . Offhand some are Wilfred Smith, Irv Kupcinet and Ed Cochran.

Chalk up another "ace" for the Doty Tennis club in signing for a pro match between Don Budge and Fred Perry. Now all the promoters have to do is get Budge to sign to become a pro. . . . However, that shouldn't be hard, they say. He already has endorsed a racket and such like.

Harry Stuhldreher's speaking tour will have him in this section two days in December. . . . He's slated at Neenah on Dec. 9 and Clintonville, Dec. 10. . . . Bernie Heselon of Lawrence talked at Green Bay last night.

John Lalson, a Green Bay West grid star of a year or two ago, is with Tiny Cahoon at Monmouth. . . . And won a beard growing contest last week. . . . The prize was a shaving mug.

Yesterday's mail brought a letter from Kay Rogers at Harvard, Cambridge, Mass., in which he chided us a bit for treating Harvard football team rather lightly in a recent guess as to the Harvard-Army game.

He says in part:

"In the first place, let me say that there isn't enough 'crowd spirit' here to make me care much whether Harvard wins. I go just to enjoy football and to relax once a week. When the first game, Brown game, was played, I was very much disgusted. I figured I could see better football at Lawrence. But, don't sell the Harvard team short like you did in this forecast. Harvard outplayed the Cadets so badly that it was a shame that two times Army men got away in an open field.

"Harvard just cannot corner a good broken field runner. They haven't been scored on but once this season on a sustained march. All other scores came on long runs and passes. Harvard (the greatly underrated underdog in this game) just battered the Cadets all over the field. The Cadets did earn one touchdown the hard way, but Harvard earned two plus a very difficult field goal. That should have been enough to win the game, but—as I said—they are just lost when someone gets loose in mid-field. I did enjoy the game tremendously; it was one of the most exciting I have seen."

Reaches Halfway Mark in Survey of College Football

SAN FRANCISCO — The sweeping survey of college football in the Pacific coast conference is better than half completed, and the man in charge thinks that any skeptic who doubted the sincerity of the probe is due for a surprise.

The man is Edwin N. Atherton, of San Francisco, who has spent some twenty years in the business of investigating everything from a foreign spy plot to that great American mystery of who threw the overalls in Mrs. So-and-So's chowder—well, almost.

There may have been investigations of college athletics in the past, of accusations of proselytizing and general abuse of amateur standards, but never one as big or searching as this one, said Atherton today.

"The conference hired me in a sincere move to study the situation, and I became more impressed each day with its sincerity.

"On top of that, I'm not in the white-washing business."

Engaged last January to conduct the survey, Atherton has interviewed about 500 varsity and freshmen football players.

He goes from one campus to another, is presently on his second lap, and questions the boys on the source and amount of their incomes, their jobs, the time put in on them and the time left for study.

Duluth Teachers Win Fifth Straight Title

SUPERIOR — Duluth Teachers took their fifth straight victory of the football season at Superior Teachers' expense last night, 19 to 7, and with it captured the Twin Ports championship.

Capitalizing on stellar blocking, Duluth came back to win after Bud Rich, Superior halfback, had galloped 95 yards for the Yellow-jackets' touchdown in the opening quarter.

Duluth scored twice in the second quarter, the first touchdown coming on a tricky lateral pass play. Erickson to Laine to Nagolski. Erickson plunged from the one-yard line for the other. The final touchdown came in the third quarter. Gorham scoring on a ten-yard forward pass.

The game had been postponed twice because of weather conditions.

Harvey Woods Scores Win Over Drouillard

MILWAUKEE — Harvey Woods, St. Paul lightweight who defeated Orville Drouillard of Windsor, here two weeks ago, repeated his victory last night as he took all but the fifth and sixth stanzas of an eight round bout.

Drouillard was the aggressor, but for every blow he landed Woods connected twice. There were no knockdowns. Woods weighed 133, Drouillard 136.

Indian Billy Lee of Reno and Buzz Breese of Manhattan, Kas., in six rounds. Breese, brother of Quentin (Baby Face), weighed 141.

In one of the supporting bouts, Frankie Gaudes, 128, of Milwaukee, stopped Harold Floyd, 131, of Racine, in the first round.

Appleton Reds Bow To Sheboygan, 59-0

SHEBOYGAN — A powerful Sheboygan Merchants football squad, led by Stapel, who passed to three touchdowns, scored two himself and added three extra points by place-kicks. Sunday turned in a brilliant 59-0 victory over a highly-rated Appleton squad.

The Merchants, clicking on the ground and in the air, scored in every period. They scored three touchdowns in the first period, added four in the second and finished with one in each of the other periods.

Unbeaten Gridders Learned Footwork In Shopping Rush

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Bill Reinhart, the football coach who sent his George Washington team through Christmas shoppers to team their footwork—beamed like a Santa Santa Claus today.

"Some people laughed," said Bill, "when the boys went out last December and hit the shopping line. We may lose all the rest of our games, but look what we've done to date."

George Washington university is one of the nation's few teams which has been undefeated, untied and unscored on.

Gained 140 yards rushing to opponents' 247.

Completed 10 out of 31 passes, five of which were good for touchdowns.

Who accounts for most of George Washington's scores and gains? A 160-pound halfback from Watseka, Ill., named Vic Sampson, and big Bob Nowaskey, from Scottsdale, Pa., who plays end.

BIG BATTERY

Cincinnati — (AP) — The Reds have the heaviest battery in the major leagues when Ernie Lombardi catches the heaves of big Jim Weaver.

REEN BAY — Still showing an offense that was lucky to get away with a net yardage gained, Appleton High school football squad dropped a 20 to 0 decision to Green Bay East here last night in a Fox Valley conference game. The Bays led 14 to 0 at the half.

Appleton never was in the game offensively and if DeLeest and Pegel hadn't picked up a couple of ten yards in the closing minutes against East's third stringers, the Terrors probably would have finished the evening with a minus yardage.

The statistics reveal that the Terrors made 4 first downs while East was marking up 13. East had a net yardage of 304 yards against 54 for Appleton. East gained 185 yards from scrimmage and Appleton a net 39. On forward passes East gained 119 yards and Appleton only 15. Appleton's net on passes was riddled in the second half when the line let almost the entire East line swarm all over the casters and throw them for heavy losses.

East attempted 12 passes and completed 7. Appleton attempted 5, completed 2 and had 1 intercepted. East was penalized 35 yards, Appleton 50.

East Score in Hurry
The Red Devils scored their first touchdown within a few minutes of the opening whistle. Appleton received the kickoff but failed to gain. It then punted three times before the play was called legal and East took the ball.

Allard returned the punt about 25 yards to offset Sample's great kicking and then Olson slid off the Appleton right end for a 32-yard gain and a play or so later Allard passed to Bob LeFebvre who went

Growlers Score New Team Marks In Lions League

Win Three From Roarers To Crowd Leading Tamers

Lions Club League	W.	L.
Standings:
Tamers	12	6
Growlers	10	8
Twisters	9	9
Roarers	5	13

New London — The Growlers splattered the maples for new team marks in the Lions league at Prah's alleys last night and pounded their way closer to the top with three wide victories over the Roarers. Clicking together, the quintet cracked games of 844, 841 for league tops, and 838 for a high team total of 2,623 pins.

Ralph Hanson set the pace with a 569 series in games of 175, 222 and 172. Dr. George Polzin at anchor with 561 in lines of 188, 170 and 193. Dr. J. W. Monsted led off with 521 and 206. William Knapsen with 599. Roy Quoneman blew a 493 count but hit a 200 line in the second game. Len Chlne headed the opposition with a 531 total, the Roarers collecting games of 781, 823 and 753.

The Tamers kept their lead by holding the Twisters for two games. G. A. Wells leading the victors with a 526 series, Earl Meikiejohn the losers with 502.

Goodfellowship League

Standings:	W.	L.
Fords	15	3
Cedar Lawn	10	8
Post Office	9	9
Mikes Tavern	2	16

With a difference of only five pins counting two victories, the Cedar Lawn Dairies forged ahead of the Post Office squad in three wins last night. The Postels lost the first two 762 and 785 to 763 and 789 but dropped the last one 778 to 858.

Hersil Frank smashed the hardwoods for a 226 line for the Dairies and collected a 524 total. Hugo Bachman spilled a 533 series to help in the victories.

The Fords showed strength in defeating Mikes Taverns three more by a total of 2,578 to 2,243. Pace-setters for the winners were Les Werner 542, 198; Marshall Ladwig 538, 200; Leonard Hoffman 532, 211. Orrin Krohn toppled a 508 count to lead the Taverns.

Inter-County League

The Inter-County league started fresh on the North Side alleys last night with a quintet from Royaltol replacing the disgruntled Hickocks Brick team. Rolling for the newcomers are W. B. Graichen, William Hass, C. Martin, John Wochinski and Ed La-throp.

The new team was initiated in two defeats by Byrons Lunch of Hortonville. John Wochinski was high man in the matches with a 177 game. A. Bellie of the winners hitting a 460 series.

Len Trambauer of Readfield posted a 583 series in games of 195, 193 and 195 that tops all the rural league records so far. Despite his keeping the team lost twice to Thurk's Tavern, the latter paced by Alton Hutchinson with a 525 count.

Rev. Bernard Doyle Is State Legion Chaplain

New London — The Rev. Father Bernard Doyle of Darlington, Wis. has been selected to succeed the Rev. R. R. Holliday of this city as state chaplain of the American Legion, according to the latest issue of the official state organ of the Legion. The new chaplain was elected by the department executive committee at Milwaukee earlier this month. The selection was left to the committee since there were no nominees at the Ashland state convention.

Hortonville Man Hurt When Car Trailer Tipped

New London — Arnold Handschke, Hortonville, suffered bruises and several broken ribs when a car and trailer he was driving tipped over near Hortonville Monday afternoon. Handschke was reported negotiating a sharp turn off a narrow county road when the trailer dropped off the roadway and forced the car over. He was alone and his injuries were treated by a New London physician.

Legion Scout Troop Will Meet in Patrols

New London — Boy Scouts of American Legion Troop 7 will meet in patrols at the Legion clubhouse at 7 o'clock this evening for a regular meeting, according to the Rev. R. R. Holliday, scoutmaster. Meetings will be held only every two weeks this year.

Handicraft work will be taken up at tonight's meeting and Robert Ulrich will act as assistant scoutmaster.

Eight Men From High School Class of 1917 Attend Reunion

New London—Eight male members of the New London High school Class of 1917 and two of their high school instructors bridged 21 years of time at a reunion at Leo's Bar here Saturday night. Representing about half of the early class, the men had a stag dinner at the inn and spent the evening informally.

Members from New London were: Dr. George Polzin, Dr. J. W. Monsted and Dr. M. A. Borchardt, and they carried out an idea for the reunion suggested several weeks ago by George M. Werner, now of Madison, who was visiting here.

The two teachers present were D. O. Blissett, lately returned to New London, and Arthur Euler, principal at Wabeno Public High school. Blissett taught manual arts and coached athletics, later directed musical activities. Euler taught history.

Others of the class present were Harold Shirland, recently moved to Shiocion, Dr. Ray Krause and Wallace Newton, Milwaukee, and Edward Remmel, Shawano. Invitations were sent to every male member of the old class and all came who could.

The American Legion auxiliary will meet at the home of Mrs. R. R. Holliday Thursday evening for a regular meeting. Mrs. Wendell Maxted will be assisting hostess.

Mrs. Maynard Burton was hostess to the F. F. and F. club at her home yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Gerhardt Felsner and Mrs. Elroy Stern won honors and Mrs. Clarence Ebert won the traveling prize. Mrs. Ebert will entertain next Monday.

Night Classes in 2 Subjects Begin

10 Report for Typewriting, 7 for Home Economics

New London — Night classes in two subjects were started at Washington High school last evening. Ten persons reported for the typewriting classes under Norman Prohnd and seven for home economics work under Miss Mabel Nock.

The typing work is for out-of-school beginners or reviewers and as many more can be accommodated in the class, according to Prohnd. The group will meet at 7:30 every Monday evening and additional members will be taken in next week. Bookkeeping classes under E. N. Calet will be started Wednesday evening. There will be a small fee for the commercial subjects to defray expenses.

Seven young women reported to Miss Nock for adult home economics work and more are expected at the next meeting next week. Clothing will be the subject of study and fall outfits will be created.

Dr. Pfeifer Shows New London Movies At Rotary Meeting

New London—Dr. F. J. Pfeifer, 16-millimeter home movie enthusiast, entertained the Rotary club at the Elwood hotel yesterday noon with scenes he has taken of activities in and around New London during the last year. Included was the 3-reel short subject, "Grass," and several stock comedies.

Activities covered by Dr. Pfeifer's camera included last year's ski tournament at Mosquito hill, a motorcycle hill climb at the same site, a Sunday swimming at the Hatten park pool, the loss of the Hatten Lumber company barn, and other scenes.

J. F. Bentz, Escanaba, Mich., formerly of New London and a past-president of the club, was a guest at the meeting yesterday.

The club celebrated the birthday anniversary of T. F. Fitzgerald and his cake was won by Fay R. Smith.

French General Salutes As Gesture Of Politeness

The French were much more democratic. Their officers have authority, but a general entering a room will click his heels and salute all present in a gesture of politeness, nothing more, and a buck private is not expected even to look up. American and British officers—in the higher ranks at least—feel that they lose something of dignity and authority (perhaps that it is ungentlemanly) to frequent the haunts of enlisted men. It might be so in the event that the false distinction emanating from the word "gentleman" has driven the enlisted men—or "the people, as they used to be called in the navy to questionable places. But worse than the preservation of the word "gentleman" in the 95th article would be the institution of social or political commissars to supervise the political regularity of the commissioned and enlisted soldiers. That remedy was used in Russia and later in Spain, and it is obvious that it must create a corps of snitchers who undermine the legal authority of the men with responsibility and appeal to the whining shyder nature of every guard-house lawyer in the command. Authority would be destroyed and discipline with it. Anyone with any experience under the Wagner act and the scuttle-butt agitators who have thrived under its protection can foresee that.

British Enlisted Man Still Legal Inferior

In the old British army—in the guards particularly—the wives of the enlisted men traditionally did the washing for the families of the officers. Education and the march of democracy have advanced the British enlisted man some distance from his social degradation, but he still is legally the social inferior of the officer. In the American armed forces social distinctions persist, which, if they do not have legal force, at least have equivalent force derived from tradition and habit.

In an army of intelligent men social distinctions are vicious and detrimental to the service. The distinctions go far beyond the mere preservation of respect for legal authority. From custom they persist in degrading the enlisted man to a low position and exalting officers to a status which to them is false, un-

Social Distinctions in Army Are Detrimental to Service

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—The simplest cure for the fears of those who think a great program of ornament for this country would develop an aristocratic and warlike officer caste is to eliminate the word "gentleman" from the 95th article of war. This article was lifted bodily from the British articles 150 years ago. The British had adopted it long before that, when the word "gentleman" had a little meaning which has been lost by now.

There are no more democratic institutions in this country than the military and naval institutions within themselves. But, despite their internal democracy, under which the son of a four-star general enjoys no advantages over the son of a man with lime in his hod carrier's boots, the course does contrive to instill in the young gentlemen, as they are called, a strong sense of the social untouchability of the man in the ranks and the social untouchability of the enlisted man's wife in relation to the officer's wife.

The theory holds that an officer is a gentleman and that an enlisted man is of a lower social order. They may not often examine the meaning and effect of all this, but it is apparent throughout the life of the service. In emergencies officers and men become human beings with no human distinction, and the lawful authority of the officer commands obedience not because he wears finer feathers but because he is authorized to command.

But, in other times, the officer has his pick of the pubs, and the enlisted men, even though socially and intellectually compatible and perhaps desirable, are excluded from the officers' set and from places which they frequent. As a result they often are reduced to association with the riffraff of the post town. Civilian snobs cultivate the society of the commissioned personnel to the exclusion of the enlisted men and their wives, if any, and jokes which cropped up in England and here in the great war about the problem of reconciling contrasts illustrate the artificiality of this segregation. The comic idea of millionaire having to salute a man who recently had been his own valet and of their mutual embarrassment was comic only because the tradition behind it was silly.

The tradition endowed the officer with an indefinable social superiority which he and the public knew he did not necessarily possess or feel. The public, however, instinctively felt that somehow an officer ought to be superior.

New London High School Orchestra Moves to Class C

Elevated in Rank for Inter-Scholastic Competition

New London—The New London High school orchestra has been elevated from Class D to Class C for inter-scholastic competition in music festivals as the result of the increased attention given to the group this year, it was announced yesterday by M. S. Zahrt, director.

With the completion of the new music rooms at Washington High school and the placing of band work on a full time basis, more time is available for orchestra work. The hours of rehearsal per week determines the class in which a group will compete.

Under the new system of rehearsals the string section meets three times a week during the first school period on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and practices of the whole orchestra are held twice a month on every second and fourth Monday evening.

The organization with its 27 members made its first public appearance at the McKinley school opera last Friday. The complete personnel is as follows: violins, John Crain, Alan Fonestad, Polley Harquist, Delbert Otis, Phyllis Stern, Virginia Dillen, Wilma Dodge, Virginia Marten, Phyllis Morien, Melnee Rozelle, Emily Zachow; viola, Gertrude Ploetz; cello, Jane Huebner; string bass, Clifford Forster. Cornets, Audrey Dean, Clairmont Sherman; drums, Patricia Chewgins; flute, Mary Dawson; French horns, Angeline Runge, Valda Gehrke; oboe, Marjorie Miller; bassoon, Valois Miller; bass clarinet, Betty Klemm; clarinets, Orville Sanders, Jack Seering; tuba, Duane Schoening; trombone, Wallace Kellogg.
